ADMINISTRATION

G. Bromley Oxnam, D. D., LL. D.

The President

THE greatest contribution of President Oxnam to DePauw can not be measured in terms of his specific accomplishments, great even as they are. It is true that under his administration the scholastic standard has been raised, an extensive building program put under way, great additions made to our endowment, and many other definite advances made. These would be futile, however, without his greatest contribution—the revitalizing of the DePauw spirit. The character of President Oxnam is vibrant with energy, a fighting energy which has transformed the half-dormant spirit which he found here two years ago into the living, moving spirit of the new DePauw.

DE PAUW UNIVERSITY
GREENCASTLE, INDIANA
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

A Word of Greeting and Congratulation

This splendid volume contains the college record of men and women upon whom the nation, and perhaps the world, may rely for leadership tomorrow.

De Pauw is proud of the leaders it has prepared for Service. Many have become great, as did the Christ, by becoming servants of all. They have spent themselves in service in church and state, in laboratory and study, in studio and upon stage, in office and factory, in home and school.

I am confident that the students, whose records appear herein, will equal the service rendered by the greatest of sons and daughters who have honored De Pauw. I honestly believe this generation will surpass the best of the past.

It is my deepest desire that De Pauw students may be known for their world-mindedness, may be characterized by honesty in their search for reality, may be dedicated to the service of the common good, may be courageous enough to act upon conviction, may be acquainted with the true, the good and the beautiful, and may be possessors of the vital values of religion.

G. Bromley Oxnam

Administration

AT the head of the administration of DePauw university stands President G. Bromley Oxnam, who has now completed his second year in that capacity. He, together with the Board of Trustees, formulates the basic policies of the University; and his is the task of correlating the various departments through which these policies are administered. Both in the formulation of wise progressive policies, and in their capable and energetic administration, President Oxnam has achieved a remarkable success.

Dr. H. B. Longden, Vice-President of the University and Director of the Edward Rector Scholarship Foundation, is known as the personification of the spirit of DePauw. He deserves this distinction for many reasons, but the chief of them is that he has never allowed years to make him old. He draws the wisdom of ripe experience from the past, but he does not live in the glory of a former day. He lives in the present and hopes for the future. For over half a century, DePauw students have loved him for what he is and honored him for what he has done.

No one else in the administrative system is beset by so great a number of different duties as is the Registrar, Miss Vera Worth. The highest tribute that can be paid Miss Worth is the fact that in spite of all the nerve-racking detail with which her office must deal, no position in the University is more capably handled than that of the Registrar.

Mr. Harold Robbins, who was promoted from Assistant Treasurer to Treasurer upon the resignation of Dr. S. B. Towne at the end of last year, has achieved a complete success during his first year in his new capacity. His position is a vitally important one, and he has proved himself fully capable to sustain the reputation for absolute efficiency which belongs to the office of Treasurer.

This year has seen the establishment of a new office of administration, namely, that of Comptroller. Dr. Byron H. Wilson, who is qualified by many years of experience in the field of religious administration, has served his first year in this capacity. The great increase of endowment, plus the efficient administration of the funds of the University, are ample evidence of his success.

Deans

OF all the offices of the University, none have such wide discretionary powers as do the offices of the deans, and none have such power to aid or hinder cooperation between the administration and the student body. DePauw is indeed fortunate in having deans so adept at carrying out the best interests of the University with so little friction; this feat is to be attributed chiefly to their fundamental understanding of the individual student, and their sympathetic treatment of each case.

For over half a century, Dr. Post, who was made Dean Emeritus at the close of last year, has devoted his sincerest efforts to the advancement of DePauw. He can look with pride today upon what his work has done in aiding DePauw to reach her present status among the universities of America.

Dr. Blanchard, who has given twenty-nine years of his life to the service of the University, is now in his third year as Dean of the College of Liberal Arts. He perhaps works harder at his job than any other man at DePauw, and his utter devotion to the best interests of the University constitute a real contribution to the development of a greater DePauw.

Dean Dirks, in his four years in the very important office of Dean of Men, has won the esteem of the student body by his insight into the problems he is called upon to handle, and by the firm yet considerate manner in which he deals with them. Everyone who comes in contact with Dean Dirks finds in him a sympathy and friendliness which is in itself the solution to many difficulties.

The office of Dean of Women is a very important one at DePauw, and the University was indeed fortunate in securing Dean Beroth to serve in that capacity during the absence of Dean Alvord this year. Dean Beroth has very capably administered her duties, and the tradition of considerate but undeviating firmness associated with her office has been fully upheld.

Dr. McCutchan, Dean of the School of Music, is one of the outstanding musical leaders of the day. Under his leadership, the DePauw School of Music has become known as one of the finest in the country, and it is safe to say that without his strong and energetic administration, no such outstanding success could have been attained.

When the founders and benefactors of DePauw university are mentioned, the Trustees, I suspect, do not have the large consideration that they deserve. The success of the institution both educationally and materially has been more largely due to them than to any other body however large. The personnel of the body has been outstanding from the beginning, made up of the prominent men of the state and nation. One is led to wonder that so early, with such small beginnings, men of such prominence were willing to join their fortunes with that of the University. In addition to many men of large business interests, there have been eight bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, two members of the President's cabinet, one Vice-president of the United States, two United States senators, three governors of the State, two lieutenant-governors, the attorney-general of Indiana; and many bank presidents, judges, editors of prominent papers, educators, and men of letters.

There are three sources from which the University might reasonably look for its endowment and material equipment: the great church with its millions of members and money; from the fifteen or more thousands of graduates and former students; and from its Board of Trustees never numbering at any time more than thirty-four. The remarkable almost startling fact is that at least seventy-five per cent of all the assets of the University came from this small group—the Board of Trustees.

The debt of gratitude that is owed to the Board of Trustees and to its president, Mr. Roy O. West, former Secretary of the Interior, is hard to adequately estimate, and will be difficult to pay.

Student Council

THE STUDENT COUNCIL serves to bring the student body and the administration into closer sympathy, and to bring about a greater degree of cooperation between them. It is composed of four elective officers, the presidents of the three upper classes, the editor of The DePauw, an athletic representative, a representative of A. W. S., and a representative of Y. W. C. A. This year Franklin P. Cole has served as president, and Mary Elizabeth Briggs as vice-president. Cora Ewan and Fred Robbins were secretary and treasurer respectively. Angus Cameron, senior; Fred Wuelfing, junior; and Thoburn Wiant and Wayne Ratcliffe, sophomores, represented the various classes. Charles Stunkel was athletic representative; while Guernsey Van Riper, editor of The DePauw, was ex-officio member of the council. Mary Louise Wellenreiter and Dorothy Rutter represented A. W. S. and Y. W. C. A. respectively.

Class History

WITH the departure of the seniors at graduation will come vacancies on the DePauw campus difficult to fill. Through its freshman year the class was guided by Robert Kimberlin and George Obear, presidents; Rachel Gould and Fae Houston, vice-presidents; Marjorie Lovell and Norma Jo Davidson, secretaries; and Don Menke and Avery Shepherd, treasurers. This class organized the first Freshman Council. The scrap that year was lost to the sophomores. The following Old Gold day, however, the class of '30 defeated the freshmen. James Campbell acted as captain, a post held the preceding year by James Butler. For class garb the men wore old gold shirts with black numerals, and the women, red scarfs. Sophomore presidents were James Royer and Clair Hull; Virginia Hudson and Margaret Luke were vice-presidents; Mary Elizabeth Briggs and Madeline Findley, secretaries; and John Little and Howard Petersen, treasurers. On May day Lucy Mae Roelle was selected to wear the class ring during the coming year.

The second and busier half of their college days began with Floyd Call as junior president; Helen Hill, vice-president; Mary Louise Wellenreiter, secretary; and Thomas Anderson, treasurer. Repeating their sophomore Old Gold day victory, the class won the senior-junior football game. Plaid lined corduroy jackets were the garb.

The group of senior officers has brought the class most creditably through its final year. Emma Jean Burke has worn the senior ring. On Old Gold day the class once more won the senior-junior football game, and the men first appeared in the traditional senior cords, and the women in bronze colored berets.

The class of '30 has excelled in scholarship. It has been active in athletics, journalism, dramatics, and social affairs. It has fulfilled the promise which it showed on its coming to DePauw.

JUNIORS

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

FRED WUELFING _____ President

MARIAN GRAVIS _____ Vice-President

DAIN HESS _____ Treasurer

MARGARET GAMBLE _____ Secretary

Class History

THE first elections of the class of 1930 held Freshman week in 1927 resulted in putting Joe Kelly in as class president; Helen Dickinson as vice-president; Ruth Hall as secretary; and Ray Ragsdale as treasurer. At mid-term elections Hal Binyon succeeded as president and Pauline Becker as vice-president. Ruth Hall and Ray Ragsdale continued to hold the offices of secretary and treasurer.

The annual contests with the sophomore class were staged on Old Gold day. Joe Kelly led the class to an honorable defeat and caught the greased pig.

Sophomore elections placed in office for the first semester William Springer, president; Dorothea Bufler, vice-president; Frances Jane White, secretary; Robert G. McKee, treasurer. Second semester the following were put into office: Edwin Boswell, president; Barbara Bergan, vice-president; Elizabeth Swindler, secretary; and Clark Smith, treasurer.

Again Old Gold day occasioned the traditional scraps. The fight at the water tower resulted in casualties of a sufficiently serious nature to prompt Kappa Tau Kappa to prohibit them in the future. The strenuous fight at the tower no doubt explains the defeat later on in the day at the hands of the freshmen. George Shull led the sophomore class in the scrap.

This year the class has admirably shouldered junior responsibilities. Leaders capable of making the aspirations of the class realities have been developed. A senior year of accomplishment and enjoyment is inevitable.

HALFWAY through their college course, the sophomores look with keen anticipation to their upperclassman days of added prestige, important campus offices, and social events. There also comes, nevertheless, a tinge of regret that those beginning days of experiment are gone.

On its first Old Gold day it stepped out of the line of most freshman classes when under the captaincy of John Derkits it defeated the sophomores in the class scrap. The following year, under the supervision of Rex Moffett, another scrap victory was added.

The Freshman Council of the first year, made up of representatives from each campus group and dormitory, sponsored a freshman dance at the gym. This year, as sophomores, the class gave another dance.

The officers for the two semesters of the freshman year were: Forrest Crain and George Pearce, presidents; Helen Cooper and Sarah Anna Bond, vice-presidents; Marjory DeVaney and Mary Beyer, secretaries; and John Derkits and Ray Donaldson, treasurers.

ALMOST a year has passed since this class came from all directions to become acquainted with DePauw—its campus, its classes, its traditions. Of the three it learned much during the first days of Freshman week. The boulder, customs, The DePauw Toast, and early friendships —a knowledge and appreciation of all these were incorporated into the life of the freshman to such an extent that the coming of the upperclassmen a short time later brought few terrors to his soul.

A Freshman Council was reorganized—this time in a different manner. The class was divided into eight groups, and these groups each elected one councillor. These eight representatives and the four class officers formed the Council which has directed the affairs of the class.

On Old Gold day the frosh fell before the onslaught of the sophomores in spite of the able leadership of their scrap captain, Joe Morrow. Later in the fall a class dance was held in the gymnasium.

What is the end of study? Let me know?
Why, that to know, which else we should not know.
Things hid and barr'd, you mean, from common sense?
Ay, that is study's god-like recompense.

Athletics

Athletics

W. L. HUGHES

ATHLETICS at DePauw are becoming more important every year. This is true not only in the field of the varsity major and minor sports, but probably even more so in the field of intramural and student body athletics.

As the policy of the administration has always favored a more general participation of the student body in athletics, this result is only natural. However, it must not be thought that this advance has come about as a result of lessened interest in intercollegiate athletics. On the contrary, it has increased interest in them so that these contests are now better attended than before.

Another effect of this increased interest that is beneficial to varsity athletics is shown by the larger turnouts of candidates for the various teams. Thus the squads are larger, more men receive the benefit of competition with men of other schools, and a better spirit surrounds our varsity athletics.

All of these achievements are a standing tribute to the ideals of W. L. Hughes, director of athletics, whose stand has always been that intercollegiate athletics and athletics within the school itself are not conflicting, but are similar and capable of being molded into a single unified program for the benefit and development of the entire student body.

So great has been his contribution to the athletics of DePauw that he has been offered and has accepted a position as a member of the faculty of the graduate school in Columbia university. He will take his new position at the close of school in June. His work will be in the department of physical education, and of such nature that he will have sufficient time to finish work on his doctor's degree.

R. R. NEAL D. C. MOFFETT L. C. BUCHHEIT W. E. SEARCH

Coach Donovan C. Moffett, or "Tubby", as he is known to the students, was selected by the athletic committee of the University to fill the position of head of the department of physical education left vacant by the resignation of Professor Hughes. Mr. Moffett is a graduate of the class of 1922. He coached athletics at Brazil high school following his graduation, later going to Lima, Ohio, before returning to DePauw to handle varsity basketball and freshman football.

Raymond "Gaumy" Neal, line coach during the 1929 football season, was selected by the committee to fill Professor Hughes' position of head football coach. Mr. Neal, who came to DePauw in September, 1929, to fill the place left by Eugene C. Oberst, attended Washington and Jefferson college where he was an all-American tackle. Before coming to DePauw he was line coach at Wabash college.

Lloyd Messersmith, a DePauw graduate of the class of 1928, has recently been selected by the athletic committee to fill the position formerly occupied by Mr. Neal. Messersmith was a three-letter man during all three years of eligibility for varsity competition, making his D in football, basketball, and baseball. He was captain of the basketball team his senior year. For the past year he has been coaching at Shortridge high school in Indianapolis. Next year when he comes to DePauw he will be football line coach, freshman basketball coach, and will assist Coach Neal with baseball.

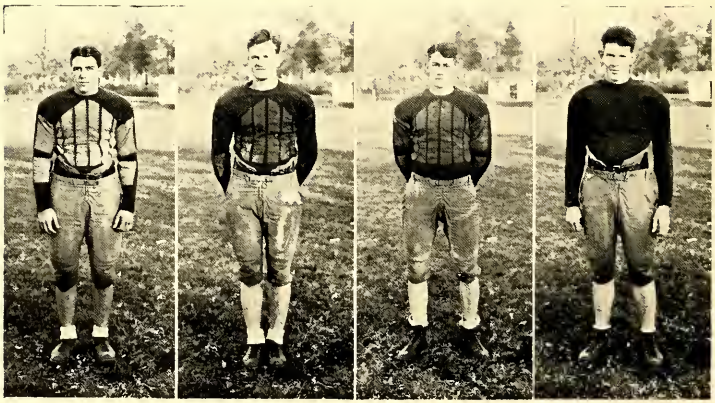
HANDICAPPED by a dearth of experienced linesmen that made it look as if the Tigers would be lucky to win a single game, Coach Hughes succeeded in developing a team that not only broke even in games won and lost, but also scored a touchdown against the strong Purdue team on its own field, a thing which three conference teams were unable to do.

The lack of experienced men and the lightness of the entire squad produced one of the greatest handicaps that a coaching staff has had to face in years at the Tiger camp. The pre-season outlook was very discouraging, and the play of the team in the first games lacked the smash and drive that has characterized DePauw teams in the past, but before the year was over the Methodists were feared by all of their opponents.

The season opened with Manchester opposing the Tigers on Blackstock field. Under a broiling sun the locals trounced the visitors 31 to 13. The victory was due more to the physical condition of the Old Gold squad, who were scarcely affected by the heat, than to the superiority of their offense.

M. CRAWLEY A. JOHNSTON G. VAN RIPER P. BEEM

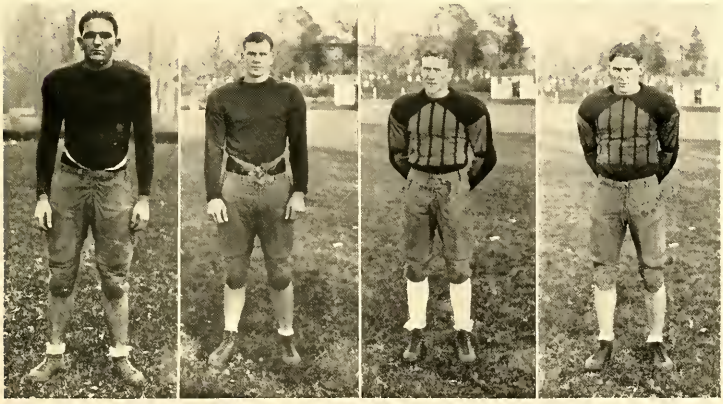


A week later the Tigers journeyed to Oberlin, where "Bish" Hughes coached before coming to DePauw, and annexed a 7-0 win in a hard-fought battle that was mainly offensive. The Methodists made it three straight and celebrated Old Gold day by defeating the Earlham Quakers 33 to 13. The features of the game were Melbourne's 65-yard run on the opening play of the game, and Crawley's 95-yard return of a kick-off for a touchdown.

On October 19 the Tigers traveled to Lafayette and there battled gamely against Purdue's overwhelming odds of weight and experience, but were defeated 26 to 7. The Boilermakers' second string provided the opposition for the Methodists during the first three quarters; but in the last period, Coach "Jimmy" Phelan sent in his undefeated first-stringers, and the Tigers were forced to bow in defeat. The DePauw score came in the third quarter, when Hogan went around right end after Blake and Cassiday had smashed their way to the ten-yard line.

A week later the Franklin squad made its appearance on Blackstock field; and, as the Baptists had failed to show much during the season, Coach Hughes started a third-string line and a second-string backfield. The reserves put up a fine fight but a blocked punt gave the visitors the ball near the Tiger goal and Franklin scored. When the regulars were sent into the fray at the start of the second half, they were unable to get started until ten minutes before the final gun. Then a determined offense gave them a touchdown, but the goal was missed to give Franklin its 7-6 margin of victory. The Tigers were well on their way to another touchdown when the game ended.

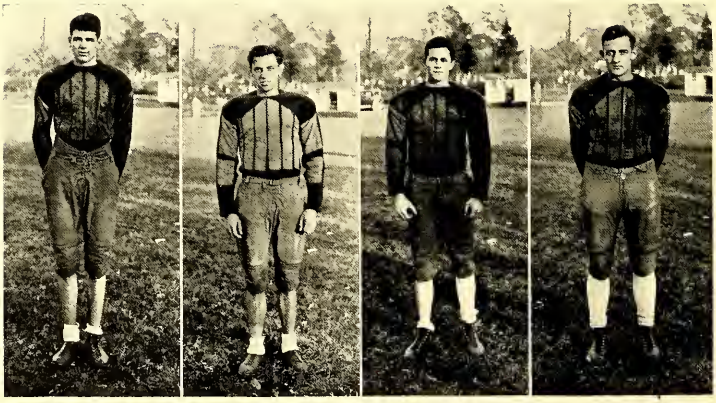
A. Struck R. Ragsdale R. Means R. Cassiday



The Butler battle featured Dad's day, and a crowd of 3500 assembled to witness the clash, which was won by the visitors, 13 to 0. The Tigers held the Blue and White scoreless the first half, but the advantage of weight began to tell when play was resumed, and Watford, sensational negro fullback, went over for the first Butler marker. The second touchdown came near the end of the game and was also scored by Watford on straight line-bucking tactics. The stocky fullback was the only consistent ground-gainer for the Bulldogs.

On November 16 Muncie was turned back by a 46 to 6 score in a game which resembled a track meet more than a football game. Melbourne, with two long runs of 75 and 80 yards, and Captain Blake, who kicked, passed, and hit the line as never before, were the stars of the encounter.

H. KAPPES H. HOGAN E. VAN RIPER W. BAILEY



The climax of the season came when the Methodists faced Wabash on Ingalls field. Pre-game dope gave DePauw a slight edge, but it was apparent after the first quarter of the game, during which neither team was able to advance the ball successfully, that they were evenly matched, and that the breaks would determine the outcome. The break came when a DePauw player fumbled the ball and was tackled behind his own goal line. The safety, which netted two points, and a touchdown by Weist in the last quarter were one point greater than Hogan's touchdown and a goal kick by Cassiday, and the game went to the Scarlet. The final score was Wabash 8, DePauw 7.

NINE victories, seven defeats, and a total season's score of 525 points to the 413 counted by its opponents is the record of the DePauw basketball team for the 1929-30 season. Victories over two Big Ten teams, Indiana and Illinois, were the high points of the year.

Nine of the sixteen games played during the year were staged in Bowman gym, and seven road games took the Tigers to every part of the Hoosier state and once into Illinois.

Of the nine local tilts the Methodists won five and lost four. On the road they also retained a margin of a single victory for a four-to-three break on the right side of the winning column.

The Old Gold squad started the season with a bang by winning from the visiting Rose Poly crew 55 to 13 and bumping the Crimson of I. U. 26 to 24 in a thrilling battle at Bloomington. This victory was a surprise to the sports world and the Tigers rated high until they lost to Indiana State 32 to 27 in a ragged battle at Terre Haute.

The team sent the students home for the Christmas holidays in a good frame of mind by trimming Earlham 45 to 22. Two close, hard-fought games featured the vacation period. The first was a 28 to 26 triumph over the University of Illinois at Urbana, and the second was a disheartening 29 to 28 loss to Illinois Wesleyan at Greencastle on New Year's day.

The Methodists reached the peak of their form in the Franklin battle in which they defeated the Grizzlies 42 to 29 in a brilliant game. The Purple

Aces of Evansville provided little opposition and were crushed by the Moffettmen 41 to 12.

At this juncture something happened to the spirit and morale of the Old Gold squad, and the driving offense and brilliant defense that had been present in the previous games of the season disappeared.

Easily and successively Wabash, Butler, and Indiana State took the measure of the Methodists. The Vaughnmen won 33 to 19 on their own floor. Butler took a 39 to 29 verdict at Greencastle, and Indiana State took another win 33 to 27. The Butler and State games were battles to the final gun, but each saw DePauw slightly outclassed in the last few minutes of play.

As if in an attempt to redeem itself in the eyes of the student body for the three defeats, the Tigers came back to win the next three tilts. Indiana Central fell 41 to 13. Earlham was conquered 28 to 25 in an overtime contest at Richmond, and Evansville took its second beating by losing 41 to 23 in Bowman gym.

Franklin, which had come to be reckoned one of the best secondary teams in the state, got revenge for the overwhelming loss it had suffered earlier in the year by taking a close 35 to 31 count over the Tigers at Franklin.

The close of the season found the Tigers pitted against their traditional rivals from Wabash. The game was one of the fastest, most fiercely fought battles of the year. DePauw led throughout the game until five minutes before the final gun when a desperate Scarlet rally put the visitors out in front 25 to 17. DePauw led at the half 7 to 4.

Six men were awarded varsity letters for their services during the year. They were Charles Stunkel, captain; Ray Ragsdale, George Mountz, Marion Crawley, Rex Moffett, and Derrill Copeland. Reserve letters were given to Edwin Boswell, Keith McCoy, Dale Stackhouse, William Naftzger, Maurice Wilson, Noel Brindle, and Reese Hammond.

UNDEFEATED in dual meets, first in the Little State meet, fourth in the Big State, and record-breaking performances in the two outstanding relay meets in the Middle West was the enviable record established by Coach L. C. Buchheit's 1929 varsity track team in one of the most successful seasons in years.

The Tiger trackmen had little trouble in annexing the five dual meets by overwhelming scores. The closest score was in the Earlham contest in which the Quakers were able to hold the Tigers to a 30-point lead. The other victories were over Indiana State, Indiana Central, Butler, and Muncie.

The high spots of the season, however, were the spectacular showings of the DePauw relay team at the Ohio relays and at the Central Intercollegiate meet. In the former the gold-clad runners won the mile and 440-yard relays and set new marks in both events. In the second meet they clipped more than three seconds from their previously established mark.

In the first meet of the season the Old Gold squad got away to a flying start by annexing a one-sided victory over Indiana State 101½ to 23½. DePauw scored slams in seven events and took all of the 14 first places. Ramsay was high point man with 17 points.

A week later the Methodists flashed to a 78 to 48 win over the strong Earlham team. Ramsay's time of :09.7 was exceptionally fast for the 100-yard dash. DePauw had slams in the 220 and 440-yard dashes.

The mile relay team composed of Spina, Sutherlin, Melbourne, and Ramsay went to the Drake relays and captured third place when the winner, Oklahoma Baptists, turned in the fast time of 3:21.4. The showing of the Tigers was very creditable, however, considering the fact that they had been handicapped in early spring training because of no indoor track facilities.

The Tiger thinlies journeyed to Indianapolis and took an 82 to 42 victory from the Greyhounds of Indiana Central for their next engagement. In spite of the fact that the track was more like a cinder dump, the Methodists turned in a fine performance, scoring slams in the 220, 440, 880, and discus.

Butler fell before the Tigers for the third consecutive season when it lost an 86 to 40 decision on Blackstock field. DePauw swept the 440, high jump, and javelin throw, and Butler retaliated in the mile run. Melbourne set a new DePauw record in the quarter-mile of :50.8.

A. RAMSEY
Captain-elect

DePauw's crack squad of runners gained considerable recognition in the Ohio relays held at Columbus the following Saturday when it placed first in the mile relay and 440 relay, second in the two-mile relay and fourth in the medley relay. Spina, Sutherlin, Melbourne, and Ramsay ran the first event in 3:25.7, breaking the old record of 3:27.2, held by Colgate. The dash team of Spina, Cassidy, Melbourne, and Ramsay hung up a new mark of :43 in winning the 440 relay to break the old record of :43.5 held by Ohio Wesleyan.

DePauw scored three slams, eleven firsts, and a like number of seconds to romp to an easy victory over Ball Teacher's college of Muncie in the last dual meet. Button established a new record of 42 feet 9.5 inches in the shot put.

D. HOWE H. AULT B. CORNTHWAITE H. CARTER

In a record-breaking meet in which six old records were bettered, three of them by DePauw men, the Methodists annexed their fifth consecutive Little State track crown. The Tigers scored 49 points to place them well in front of Earlham and Butler who were tied for second with 30 each. Ramsay set a new mark in the 100-yard dash, while Hogan and Button did the same in the 200-yard low hurdles and shot put respectively.

After leading Purdue until the final event DePauw was nosed out of third place in the Big State meet by the Boilermakers, and had to be content with fourth position. The performance of the Tiger thinlies was very impressive as they were the only secondary school track men that were even a threat to the big schools. The final standing was Indiana university 60½, Notre Dame 43½, Purdue 19, DePauw 16½. The Tiger mile relay team won the only first for DePauw.

As a fitting conclusion to a successful season the mile relay team set a new record at the Central Intercollegiate races held at Marquette. The team stepped the distance in 3:22.5 to better their former mark by 3.2 seconds.

ALTHOUGH the season's record of three victories, eight defeats, and one tie was not particularly impressive, there is much to be said in favor of the showing of the 1929 baseball team, for the disadvantages to be overcome were great.

Probably the greatest weakness was the lack of experienced men. Of the entire team of the previous year there remained only five men who had had any experience and could be considered reliable varsity material.

Another serious difficulty that accounted in no small way for the poor showing of the team was the weakness of the pitching staff. Fowle, Pfersick, and Hauck of the previous year's team had been lost through graduation, and only McCullough remained. Although "Mac" turned in some beautiful performances during the year, he could not be expected to carry alone the burden of twelve games. Zimmer, a sophomore twirler, saw some action and showed possibilities, but lacked the experience necessary for a seasoned moundsman.

Regardless of handicaps, however, Coach Oberst and the men set to work in earnest and succeeded in taking the first game from the Cardinals of Muncie Normal, 10 to 6. Lamphear, Tiger first baseman, was the hero of the encounter with two home runs and a single in four times at bat.

The Methodists dropped the next contest to Indiana Central 5 to 3 at Indianapolis, but returned home to bury the invading Bulldogs of Butler under an avalanche of bunts and squeeze plays to win a 10 to 6 victory.

Coach Everett Dean brought his Crimson sluggers and his pitching ace, Brubaker, to Greencastle, and returned to Bloomington with an 8 to 0 verdict. The visiting hurler let the Tigers down with three hits, but two of these were doubles by Babcock.

Bennett of Wabash and McCullough staged a nice pitcher's duel in the next battle, and although "Mac" allowed only six hits, as compared to seven by Bennett, the Scarlet singles came at just the right moment, and the Cavemen took a close 4 to 3 decision.

The Methodists and the Teachers of Indiana State battled ten innings to a 4 to 4 tie on the Terre Haute field before hostilities were called on account of darkness.

Indiana Central came to Greencastle for a return encounter and won handily 10 to 5. The Tigers seemed well on the way to victory when they got four runs in the first frame as a result of Lamphear's circuit clout, but the Greyhounds came back strong in the later innings. A last-minute attack defeated the Tigers again three days later when they lost 7 to 5 to Muncie Normal on the latter's diamond.

N. BABCOCK
Captain-elect

The Old Gold squad tried hard to even things with Indiana U. at Bloomington, but the Crimson extra-base hits, two homers, two triples and three doubles counted too many bases and the Tigers lost a tough decision, 9 to 7.

By this time the DePauw team had hit the bottom of a bad slump. Indiana State had little trouble in winning 10 to 2 when the Tigers made six bobbles afield. Wabash followed with a 9 to 2 victory, due largely to the splendid work of Bennett, Scarlet hurler.

R. MCCULLOUGH

P. BRADBURY

The season was not without some satisfaction, however, for the Tigers defeated Butler 2 to 1 in a beautiful seven-inning pitcher's battle between McCullough and Fromuth at Washington Park in Indianapolis. The Old Gold nine garnered three runs in their half of the eighth, but rain halted activities before Butler had completed the eighth frame, and the score automatically reverted to the seventh inning count.

Re'sume' of Major Sports

THE past year has brought about a great advancement in athletics at DePauw. The progress has not been entirely in the field of turning out winning teams, but has been apparent in many other ways.

One of the big steps forward during the year was the completion of the improvement of Blackstock field. A ticket office, gates, and entrances have greatly facilitated the collection of tickets at the games. A sturdy, waist-high steel fence now separates the bleacher sections from the playing field and the track. A higher, heavier fence surrounds the entire area.

The athletic department began a new policy for DePauw and followed the example of many big schools by discontinuing elective captains for the various sports. The reason given was that it would provide better spirit and morale for the team as a whole by eliminating the politics, petty jealousies, and other disturbing factors that sometimes prevail. Acting captains will be appointed by the coach for each game. At the end of play an honorary captain will be chosen from the outstanding players during the season.

An unfortunate occurrence that could not be avoided was the severance of athletic relations with Butler by the athletic committee of the faculty. For some time there had been strained relations and bitter feeling between the student bodies of the two schools, and the DePauw administration thought it better to break relations before feelings of the students became even more hostile. The incident occurred one week before the Tiger basketball team was to meet the Butler five on the Indianapolis floor.

All of the Tiger athletic teams finished their respective seasons with commendable records. The none-too-glowing showing of the baseball team was more than balanced by the brilliant record of Coach L. C. Buchheit's track squad.

The local thinlies were undefeated in dual meets, won the Little State meet for the fifth consecutive year, were the leading secondary school runners in the Big State meet, and turned in record-breaking performances at two of the outstanding relay meets of the country. Ramsay, captain-elect, was the big scorer for the Tigers. He performed well consistently in the 100-yard dash, broad jump, hurdles and mile relays.

The football team not only came out of a poor early season showing due to lack of experienced men to break even in an eight-game schedule, but also succeeded in scoring a touchdown on the mighty Boilermaker eleven of Purdue on the Lafayette field.

The DePauw basketball team under the able direction of Coach "Tubby" Moffett garnered nine victories to only seven defeats. The Tigers counted a season's total of 525 points to the 413 scored by their opponents. The high spots of the season were the Methodist victories over two Big Ten teams, Indiana and Illinois.

The Hoosiers were defeated 26 to 24 on their own floor, and the Illinois team also fell before a local audience 28 to 26. Individual scoring honors of the season were divided among Moffett, Ragsdale and Crawley. Ragsdale was honored with a place on W. Blaine Patton's all-state team.

Swimming

THE DePauw swimming team, under the tutelage of Coach W. E. Search, experienced the best season ever enjoyed by a Tiger swimming team.

The Old Gold natators opened their season with a victory over the Anderson Y. M. C. A. team. Purdue was victorious by a score of 47 to 17 in the next meet and the following week Indiana nosed out the Old Gold crew. Then the team opened up and succeeded in trampling the Chicago Y. college, Fort Wayne, Evansville, Michigan State, and Wabash. Michigan State and Wabash both had especially strong teams, and the DePauw victories were well earned.

During the season every single DePauw pool record was broken with the exception of the back stroke. These performances were due mainly to the fine work of DuShane, Wurst, and Larry Van Deusen.

The team wound up its successful season by placing third in the Indiana State Intercollegiate swimming meet held in Indianapolis. Wurst secured the only first for DePauw when he won the state breast stroke championship over such men as Coon of Indiana and Meyers of Wabash. Captain Marlatt and Jones also placed in this meet.

Prospects are extremely bright for next year since Marlatt and L. Van Deusen were the only men to be lost.

Tennis

LEE HUGHES
Captain

THE 1929 DePauw tennis team lobbed, volleyed, and drove into an enviable record. Although confronted with a difficult schedule the team was able to win all but three matches. Twice Indiana university fell before the uncanny accuracy of the Old Gold artists. In addition the team won victories over Indiana Central, Wabash, Muncie, and Franklin. State Normal succeeded in defeating the Tigers twice and Purdue once. The competition was so keen that all the matches were very close with a victory generally depending on the last tilt.

In spite of the success of the team, it appears that this year's aggregation will be even better. Ben Philbrick and Lee Searcy are the only members lost to the squad. As a nucleus, Coach Search may count on the following veterans: Captain Lee Hughes, Buren McCormack, William Naftzger, and William Gable. There also is a promising array of talent from the freshman ranks which should furnish the necessary material for a well balanced machine.

GEORGE MOUNTZ

Golf

THREE victories, two defeats and one tie were the result of the Old Gold's fifth season of intercollegiate golf competition.

The four-man team did not get off to a very impressive start. Purdue won a rather one-sided victory and this was followed by a setback at the hands of Indiana. The team showed considerable improvement in the latter match and the following week won its first victory over State Normal. Wabash fell next and the following week Butler was swamped, 24 to 0. State Normal was able to tie DePauw in the final match at Terre Haute.

The high light of the year was the State Intercollegiate tournament played on the Greencastle Country club course. Fred Lyons was able to top the large field by shooting par golf consistently. Every collegiate player of note in the state competed, and "Timer's" victory was well deserved.

This year Coach W. E. Search was faced with the problem of building a new team as Mountz was the only veteran in school. However intramural competition showed up some valuable material, and the addition of several promising sophomores rounded out the squad.

Rifle

E. KEATON

THE DePauw rifle team fired against thirty-seven schools during the past season. Illinois, Ohio State, Cornell, Culver, University of California, Rutgers, Michigan, University of Kentucky, Nebraska, and the University of Washington were among the most formidable foes.

Nineteen men fired throughout the season and of this number, Buis, Towell, Johns, Babcock, Keaton, Stewart, Woodward, Crawley, Lashley, and Epperson turned in scores that were used in the matches.

Outside of the regular scheduled matches, the team participated in two other major events—the William R. Hearst matches in which all schools in the United States turned in scores, and the Fifth Corps area match.

New awards were issued to the underclassmen this year in the form of the Casey Hogate medals. A gold medal was awarded to C. J. Stafford for the best marksmanship. A silver medal was awarded to Keppel, and a bronze one to Easley. Robert B. Moore won a medal for the best prone score as did Lashley in sitting and Tobias in kneeling. Medals are also awarded to sophomores. Woodward won the gold medal for best all around marksmanship. In the position awards Williams won the prone, Wolf sitting, and Voliva kneeling.

Freshman Football

With a wealth of good material available, the freshmen were able to win both of their games. Wheaton, McEwen, Stout, and Beler were best in the backfield. The performance of Moore, Dickinson, Riley, Williams, Pope, Eubank, Downey, and Kinder in the line bode ill for Old Gold foes next year.

Freshman Basketball

The Tiger yearlings won two and lost one of their games. State Normal and Wabash fell before the Old Gold team while Butler emerged victorious. Graham and Downey at guards, Eubank at center, and Dawalt and Perkins at forwards composed the team. Wheaton, Teeguarden and Foland also saw action.

Freshman Track

The failure of the frosh cinder path artists to register a victory was due to the lack of numbers rather than lack of ability. Butler and State Normal victories were made possible by the fact that DePauw was able to enter only a single man in each event. Kilgore, Julian, Moody, and Crain were outstanding performers.

Freshman Baseball

Although they lost both their games, the rhinie diamond squad developed some promising material. Wildman and Coate turned in very creditable twirling performances but were not equal to Drole, the Scarlet ace. Bridwell, second base, and Beler, right field, showed up well and will undoubtedly see varsity action.

Re'sume' of Freshman Sports

DURING the past year a high standard of freshman athletics was inaugurated. These commendable results were due to the material at hand rather than any radical changes in the coaching department.

The athletic department continued its policy of giving the best instruction possible to the first year men. Coach Moffett handled both the frosh football and baseball squads, Coach Hughes, the basketball men, and Coach Buchheit directed the track aspirants. In this way the men are instructed in the DePauw style of play from the beginning, and consequently a higher degree of perfection is achieved.

The baseball team did not fare so well. There are, however, brighter prospects than appear on the surface. The two Wabash victories were almost entirely the result of the fine pitching of Drole, who recently signed with a minor league team. In the first encounter Wildman, the DePauw pitcher struck out fourteen men while Drole succeeded in retiring nineteen Tiger batsmen. The second game was almost a complete repetition of the first, with Drole again having the edge in the pitching duel. Bridwell showed ability with the stick and in addition played bang-up ball around second base.

Because of the small number of men who came out for track, Coach Buchheit was greatly handicapped. Although the Butler and State Normal freshman doubled the scores in the two dual meets, Kilgore showed capability in the pole vault as did Julian and Stanley in the distance event. Moody and Copeland also showed promise.

The largest turnout in years greeted Coach Moffett's initial football call. The squad was reduced to four teams which were carried throughout the season. Wheaton, left halfback, was the outstanding man on the team. His broken field running was the best that has been exhibited on a freshman team in some years. His ability was well demonstrated in the Wabash game when he ran back a kick-off ninety-five yards through the entire scarlet team for a touchdown. His passing and punting were largely responsible for the Tiger win against State Normal. McEwen, fullback, also showed much power, for almost every line plunge he made meant yards gained. The two tackles, Moore and Dickinson, were the outstanding linemen. These lads tipped the scales close to two hundred pounds and were dependable and aggressive. They played heady football. Pope, Eubank, and Williams, at ends, also showed much promise. These men, it is believed, will greatly strengthen the varsity squad next year.

The annual fall cross country run for all freshmen was promoted as usual by Coach Search. This five-mile jaunt serves to break up the regular routine of gym classes, and is most assuredly good exercise.

In basketball Coach Hughes succeeded in making over a large amount of green material into a capable net machine. With Eubank, all state forward, as a nucleus, Hughes molded a team that was defeated only by Butler. Graham did well at floor guard and Perkins, at forward, showed an uncanny eye for the basket.

The success of the varsity teams depends to a large extent upon the quality of freshman teams that are developed. With this as a criterion, it can be said that the future for DePauw athletics was given a boost upward by the freshmen during 1929.

Men's Intramural

THAT every man in school shall compete in some form of athletic competition in the course of the school year, is the aim of the DePauw athletic department. The intramural program covers a widely diversified field of sport and thus has a wide range of appeal. By means of this program which includes: speedball, swimming, basketball, tennis, golf, volleyball, rifle, baseball, and track, the desired result has been practically achieved, for nearly everyone has a chance to participate in his favorite form of athletics. The department has estimated that more men have competed this year than ever before.

Two managers have directed the program. Russell Talbott took charge of fall and spring sports and Alvin Crain managed the winter activities. These men were directly under the supervision of Coach D. C. Moffett. Inclement weather, limited facilities for playing, and spirited teams make a manager's life a hard one. In spite of these difficulties the schedule was run off in a satisfactory manner.

Speedball, which is a combination of football, basketball, and soccer, was the first event on the fall schedule. The organizations on the campus were divided into three leagues. Phi Gamma Delta, Alpha Tau Omega, and Men's Hall won their respective leagues. The championship was determined in a round-robin manner from these three. A protest was the result of the final game and it was not decided until spring. The Phi Gams then crashed through for their third consecutive title in this sport.

The weather man played the most important role in tennis, for he rained out more than half of the matches first scheduled. Consequently the winner was not determined until late in the spring.

Neither rainy weather nor snow was able to stop the golfers. Delta Kappa Epsilon, Beta Pi, Phi Gamma Delta, and Delta Tau Delta reached the semi-final round. The Dekes were victorious in the final match which was played against the Delta Taus in a light snow storm. Third place was played off late in the school year.

The swimming crown was won by Phi Kappa Psi with a well-balanced team. Delta Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Nu were winners of the other leagues.

Volleyball was run on an elimination rather than a league basis. Theta Kappa Nu won this sport while Sigma Nu finished second. Phi Delta Theta and Beta Theta Pi ended in a tie for third place.

Theta Kappa Nu defeated Delta Chi by one point to win the rifle championship. Lambda Chi Alpha was third.

Delta Upsilon again presented a strong bowling team and carried off first honors. Their three-man team came through the harder bracket and defeated Men's Hall in the finals. Delta Chi was third.

Men's Hall hardwood five annexed the basketball trophy. Delta Tau Delta and Phi Delta Theta won their respective leagues.

The 1929 playground ball attracted a good bit of interest and excitement. Men's Hall won first place in the elimination contest.

The 1929 all-around championship was not a certainty until the track meet was run off. Men's Hall Association captured the meet and with it the beautiful cup symbolic of the all-around championship. Delta Kappa Epsilon and Beta Theta Pi came in second and third respectively in the track meet.

Although scholastic efficiency is not exactly a sport, it does fit in well as a means of intramural competition. Lambda Chi Alpha won the cup by a slight margin in 1929. They were closely followed by Phi Gamma Delta and Commons Club.

The entire intramural program has on the whole proven quite successful. This success is due largely to the cooperation of the various organizations, for it is no easy matter to get competing teams of this nature together.

Women's Intramural

THE Women's Sports association was organized to stress not only the development of athletic prowess but also to include all college women interested in sports of all kinds. The 1929-30 season was under the leadership of Emma Jean Burke, presidnt; Pauline Griffith, vice-president; Margaret Poucher, secretary; and Wilma Grossman, treasurer. Membership in the organization requires fifty initial points and twenty-five points each semester thereafter. Josephine Trimble, '29, was awarded the W. S. A. cup for the best all-around girl athlete.

An executive board including the four officers and the managers of the various sports regulates the intramural and interclass tournaments throughout the year. The managers this past year were: Carolyn Jones, tennis and basketball: Marian Gravis, swimming; and Bernice Phelps, bowling.

In addition to a number of mass meetings with special programs, the association sponsored a Penny Carnival on April 16 and two Play Days. The first Play Day was a state conference on March 22 to which all Indiana college women were invited. In connection with this the Women's Sports Association state convention was held at DePauw March 21 and 22. The convention delegates included one student and one faculty member from every college in Indiana. About one hundred delegates attended. The second Play Day was held April 12 for all Indiana high school girls.

In the program of intramural and interclass tournaments the juniors won the interclass track meet of the 1929 season. The freshmen placed second and the sophomores and seniors third and fourth respectively.

The sophomore soccer team, winner of the interclass tournament, was presented with a silver cup at the annual soccer banquet on November 26. The members of the varsity soccer team, announced at the banquet, were: Anne Nichols, Bernice Phelps, Isabelle Hadley, Margery Joslin, Grace Beecher, Hazel Ward, Pauline Griffith, Charlotte Epple, Marian Gravis, and Dorothy Hautau.

Kappa Kappa Gamma won first place in the interhouse swimming meets. Alpha Chi Omega placed second and Kappa Alpha Theta third. Members of the Kappa team were: Wilma Acton, Ann Hayden, Dorothy Stratton, Mary Elizabeth Wilson, Mary Elizabeth Colvin, Jean Hayden, Mary Nees, Mary Rhue, Emma Jean Burke, Margaret Poucher, Elizabeth Jean Martin, Betty Jane Cox, and Jane Rhue.

The interhouse basketball tournament was won by Alpha Chi Omega. A banquet on March 20 closed the basketball season. The freshman class won the interclass tournament. Those who placed on the varsity team were: Grace Beecher, Elizabeth Leavitt, Bernice Phelps, Georgetta Rogge, Margaret Avery, and Wilma Grossman. Martha Gregory, Joanna Rhoads, and Caroline Jones received honorable mention.

Rector Hall won the interhouse bowling tournament. Phi Omega Pi placed second. The members of the winning team were: Lois Chamberlain, Pauline Griffiith, and Margery Joslin.

Alpha Phi carried off the honors in the interhouse rifle tournament. Those who fired on the team were: Dora Margaret Wade, Mary Franc White, Evelyn Shallberg, Jean Davenport, and Dorothy Muir.

DePauw coeds defeated Franklin college and Indiana university coed marksmen in the intercollegiate firing with a score of 485 out of a possible 500 points for the five highest girls. Indiana made a score of 483 and Franklin, 450.

The interhouse volleyball tournament was run off in round-robin fashion this spring. An interclass tournament followed the interhouse games and a banquet closed the season.

Under the direction of the women's physical education staff, including Miss Catherine Riggs, Miss Rachel Benton, and Miss Martha Taylor, coed athletes finished a particularly successful season. Miss Riggs served as head of the Department during the absence of Prof. Lucy T. Bowen, who studied abroad this year.

The officers of the Women's Sport Association for the next year are: Marian Gravis, president; Martha White, vice-president; Bernice Phelps, secretary; and Eleanor Ault, treasurer.

Go in, and cheer the town: we'll forth and fight;

Do deeds worth praise and tell you them at night.

The Mirage

IN this Mirage of 1930 we have carried out a themal idea. There were several things we took into consideration before choosing this theme. First of all the period chosen must have qualities which are characteristic of DePauw; there must be something in common so that the two could be logically linked together. Then the next consideration was whether the period would lend itself well to the artistic side of the book. The editors decided that the Elizabethan era best suited their needs. The awakening of interest, not only in learning, but also in the world as a whole, is typical of both this period and DePauw. Adventure then, adventure today; a period of growth then, a period of growth today—in short, we believe that the counterpart of the branching out that was so characteristic of that time is to be found here on this campus. As for illustrative possibilities, the swashbuckling days of Queen Bess lend themselves admirably to our purpose, for they are almost unlimited.

In any publication of this nature it is not so much the work of the editors that makes it a success, but rather the hearty cooperation of the members of the staffs. We sincerely appreciate and thank them for all they have done, for they are the ones to whom the credit should go. Our part is merely to guide their work and to coordinate it.

The members of the editorial staff were each given a certain section of the book for which they became responsible. Our faith in their capacities was justified. Especial mention should be made of Fred Wuelfing who did all of the art work for the book with the exception of the sketches drawn by Frederick Polley.

The business staff functioned equally well. Clifford Warner and Phillip Young did outstanding work in this department. —THE EDITORS.

THE EDITORIAL STAFF consisted of seventeen juniors, each one having charge of a certain division of the work. They were as follows: John George, faculty; Paul Boyer, major sports; Edwin Boswell, minor and freshman sports; Frances Cauble, coed sports; Franklin Van Scoik, fraternities; Ruth Hall, sororities; Betty Lou Hunter, honoraries; Mary Margaret Tutewiler,

The DePauw

THE DE PAUW, which appears each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of the school year, is the present descendant of the DePauw Weekly, which was started over seventy-five years ago. It serves as a means of conveying campus news to the students. The DePauw is written entirely by the students and is absolutely free from censorship. There is, however, an understanding between the editors and the faculty that the news printed shall at all times meet a certain set standard. The future growth and policies of The DePauw are determined by the board of control of which George L. Bird is the head. Mr. Bird took the place of Prof. L. E. Mitchell in the journalism department.

The personnel of the paper is divided into five large staffs; reportorial, advertising, circulation, sports, and society which are separate from the editorial positions.

In the latter part of January, the annual DePauw banquet was held for all those who had served on the staffs. As is customary, awards of gold and silver medals for three and two years' service on the paper were given at the dinner.

The DePauw has flourished this year under the editorship of Guernsey Van Riper. Theodore Callis served as business manager and Robert Ryker as managing editor.

Other editors on the staff this year were: Joseph Taylor, associate editor; Buren McCormack, news editor; Ruth Ward, copy editor; John Moore, assistant news editor; Edward Van Riper, sports editor; Kathryn Homan, society editor; Robert Lewis, advertising manager; and Milford Miller, circulation manager.

THE editorial staff of the student body publication consists of two main departments—copy and reportorial staffs. To the copy staff falls the work of correcting news material, setting type, preparing headings, and seeing to the correct composition of the paper. The following people have served during the year on this staff: Farrington Bridwell, Thoburn Wiant, Harriet Martin, Lytle Freehafer, Anne Hayden, Cornelia Aaron, and Robert Newell.

Getting up-to-the-minute news items, features, social and sport events is the task of the reportorial division. Those who worked as reporters are: Bernard Brennan, Frances Cauble, Loren Deer, Kathryn Tofaute, Mary Hobbs, Mary Nees, Wilbur Osterling, Eleanor Peterson, Jack Reeder, Elizabeth Snow, Mary Baker, Tristram Coffin, Mildred Aiken, Elizabeth Cook, Margaret Harvey, Frank Yarbrough, and Robert BonDurant. The society column was adequately handled by Elizabeth Ann Watts and Jane Isackson, while sport news was compiled by: Paul Boyer, Everett Alldredge, Herbert Reith, Henry DeLong, and William Lee.

The business staff consists of two divisions, advertising and circulation. Advertisements were prepared and sold by the following: Kimball Reyher, William Gilbreath, Robert McDermond, Josephine Newkirk, Helen Duff, Elizabeth DeWees, Margery Hoppes, Virginia King, Olive Gustin, Mary Sargent, Lucille Hunt, Louise Clothey, Mary Niblack, Reese Goff, Avery Shepherd, Edwin Oelerking, Robert Wayland, and Charles Tyler. The work of the circulation staff is to prepare the paper for distribution and see that every subscriber receives his copy. This group was composed of: Robert Dorste, Robert Feemster, Merrill Giltner, Lyle Norton, and Robert Loop.

DePauw Magazine

THE composition department of DePauw, headed by Prof. R. W. Pence, sponsors the publication of the DePauw Magazine.

Copy, in order to be published, does not have to be of an ultra-serious nature. The contents of the Magazine vary. Short stories, poems, book reviews, and essays are all found in the publication, which is edited quarterly.

The Magazine's first woman editor, Mary Niblack, introduced illustrations and a classified advertising directory. One of the most unique features of this magazine is that no outside financial help is required for its publication.

Yellow Crab

THE YELLOW CRAB, DePauw's humorous magazine and official publication of Sigma Delta Chi, is published five times during the year. Regular editorial, art, and business staffs assist the members of Sigma Delta Chi in editing the magazine.

Leslie Everson, editor-in-chief; John Rupe, art editor; and William Bogie, business manager, have made the Crab outstanding in the field of collegiate humorous publications. This year the Crab has included to a greater degree than in previous years clever originality in both prose and art.

College Humor has bought exclusive reprint rights. The large number of times these rights have been used point to the high calibre of the Crab's contents.

YELLOW CRAB STAFF

Re'sume' of Publications

DE PAUW is indeed fortunate in having four such literary publications as The DePauw, the DePauw Magazine, the Mirage, and the Yellow Crab. It is rarely the case, that in a school of this size, one finds so many successful publications. Journalism has a strong foothold, and with the cooperation of the faculty and student body, there is no doubt that it will continue to improve.

The DePauw is the campus newspaper and includes chapel talks, feature articles, society, "The Column", student opinions, and news in general. The newspaper is entirely a student piece of work and is printed with the understanding that only a certain standard of news shall be printed. It has become an essential asset to both the University faculty and students, and it is anticipated by all, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings of the school year.

The Mirage, the college year book, is published once a year by the junior class. Therein is to be found a record of college activities, organizations, honoraries, athletics, and pictures of many of the students and University buildings. This publication serves as an excellent means of keeping the memories of college days intact, for when memory fails or grows dim there is the Mirage for ready reference. A new feature this year, that of having all new individual pictures, was inaugurated by the Mirage board. Other innovations include sketches by the well known Hoosier artist, Frederick Polley; pictures of all the faculty members; and a representative rather than a beauty section. In addition, the staff acquired for itself an office in the basement of East college, in which it accomplished the greater part of the work.

The DePauw Magazine holds a unique position in that it is one of the few successful publications of its kind to be found in a school of this size. The Magazine is the means of expression for the literary minded and it is not limited to the journalism department alone, but is open to all departments of the school.

The alleged college humor of the University is expressed in the Yellow Crab. Whether it is really "crabby," or whether the Crab is yellow or not can only be decided by reading the magazine. At any rate, the editors think it worthy to restrict reprint rights to the College Humor only.

With these four diversified literary publications, DePauw has won its way to a position of fame and recognition among the larger colleges and universities of the country, and from all appearances will continue to do so. Therefore, whether it is short stories, poetry, essays, book reviews, humorous articles, a complete record of the college year, or merely the news of the day that may be desired, it is sure to be found in one of these four publications.

MUSIC

Military Band

THE Old Gold band is one of the faithful organizations in the University. Under the capable leadership of Medford E. Maxwell it embarked upon its thirteenth season of active service. During past years it has played for nearly all of the football and basketball games as well as for other notable occasions. This year the program was even better than the standard of previous years. The first important occasion in which the band participated this year was the laying of the corner stone for Asbury hall, on Old Glory Day. That afternoon formations were made preceding the football game.

The DePauw band has proven itself ready and willing to play at all times and a great deal of credit should be given to this group of musicians. The student body too often takes the band as a matter of course, forgetting the hours of practice and work necessary for the programs which the group furnishes.

John Stanley was drum major, and the members of the band were: K. Bon-Durant, J. Goodwine, D. Jennings, J. Loring, K. Worster, E. Wykoff, R. Wayland, D. Swain, J. Bright, J. Clements, W. Hildebrand, W. Yeager, L. Dropsey, A. Fear, H. Isley, O. J. Schwieger, J. Lucas, C. Seaman, L. Carson, C. Keppel, W. Reed, S. Schowalter, M. Warren, T. Wiant, and P. Williamson.

Symphony Orchestra

THE DePauw Symphony orchestra, organized by Dean R. G. McCutchan and now directed by Prof. Rowland Leach, has a membership of sixty-five musicians. The orchestra has gained a notable reputation in the last few years by its performances throughout the state and ranks high among the best college symphony orchestras in the Middle West.

Professor Leach has had wonderful success with the orchestra in the last few years and is largely responsible for the high type of music which is presented by the organization. Practices, held twice a week, have enabled the orchestra to attain the perfection for which it is noted. Members from both the Music school and Liberal Arts college, selected at annual tryouts, represent the best musical talent in the University.

Second Row—J. Lowe, D. Eaton, B. Sturgis, J. McCartney, R. Jones, W. Yeager.

Men's Glee Club

AS has been the custom in the past, the beginning of the school year witnessed the reorganization of the Men's Glee club. Many recruits were taken in, and a splendid year was anticipated. Milton Trussler and Robert Mitchner were selected as accompanists, and the club rehearsed twice each week under the direction of Prof. Charles W. Pearson. A chapel program was presented on March 13 and was well received by the faculty and students.

The music selected for the use of the Glee club by Professor Pearson has been unique in that some of the pieces require the double accompaniment of piano and organ, while several selections have piano parts for four hands. It is hoped by the members that in the future the men may be allowed to take the trip which has been looked forward to for several years.

The officers for the year were: Roland Matthies, president; and Tillman Hadley, secretary-treasurer.

Top Row—D. Trezise, P. Brown, T. Hadley, R. Matthies, A. Stewart, P. Garner.

Second Row—R. Ooley, D. Rodgers, H. Miller, G. Yunker, H. Isley.

Bottom Row—D. Deamer, O. Bartleson, G. Schlosser, G. Pierce, I. Bratton, B. Diller, R. Kennedy.

University Choir

THE DePauw university choir, under the direction of Dean R. G. McCutchan, continued to maintain this year the splendid reputation that it has held during twenty years of development. The Choir is concerned primarily with the study and rendition of sacred music, but lighter numbers are also presented.

In addition to the vesper concerts and chapel programs given on the campus, the Choir took several trips during the year. A concert was given at one of the Indiana university chapel services and at the sectional meeting of the Woman's Music clubs which was held in Bloomington. Concerts were also given in Pendleton, Muncie, and Anderson.

The University sextette, which always accompanies the Choir, consisted of: Emerson Van Cleave, first violin; Marcia Weissgerber, second violin; Frances Guymon, cello; Carl Von Brock, flute; James Goodwine, clarinet; and Helen Correll, piano.

Second Row—R. Batten, D. Brodbecker, N. Knoff, M. J. Ross, H. Egbert, E. Shallberg.

Bottom Row—E. Broxton, F. Hollinger, R. Dean, M. Gaston, M. Hoffman, P. Muir, A. Williams.

American Guild of Organists

THE DePauw chapter of the American Guild of Organists was established in November, 1925. Organ majors and other students especially interested in the organ form the membership.

The object of the Guild is to raise the standard of efficiency of organists by giving examinations in organ playing, in the theory of music, and in the general knowledge of music. Certificates of fellowship and associateship are granted to members of the Guild who pass such examinations. Prof. Van Denman Thompson holds the highest award, the fellowship.

Probably the most interesting meeting of the year was the one in December at which Professor Thompson gave a demonstration of the new Kimball organ in the Methodist church. Various phases of organ work are discussed in the meetings and members of the Guild play selections.

The Indianapolis and DePauw chapters have a joint meeting each month, and under their auspices one of the great modern organists, Edwin Arthur Kraft, gave a recital in Indianapolis.

Officers for this year were: Marjorie Gaston, president; Rachel Dean, secretary-treasurer; Adeline Kriege, reporter for the New Music Review; and Wilma Grossman, chairman of programs.

"Moan-On Revue"

THE "Moan-On Revue" revived the idea of presenting at DePauw a musical and dramatic production, entirely written and directed by DePauw students. It took the place of the customary "Showdown" which was a series of stunts given by certain sorority groups.

The "Moan-On Revue" was an entertaining musical comedy with a collegiate atmosphere. The story centers around Larry, a college boy, who is torn between two loves: Bee, the brunette, and Tahna, the villainous blond. The brunette wins in the end after Tahna is discovered to be a chorus girl through the detective work of Tom, Dick, and Harry, the faithful friends of Larry. Thomas Anderson played the part of Larry. Margaret Winship took the part of Bee, and Mary Jo Krummel that of Tahna.

Tom, Dick, and Harry were portrayed by Harry Kelly, George Zimmer, and Earnest Beler respectively. The comedy parts were taken by Caroline Jones, Natalie Roberts, Sidney Showalter, and Richard Crowder; the latter played the role of a psychology professor. John Shirley officiated as master of ceremonies.

The "Moan-On Revue" was sponsored by the Association of Women Students, and it was given February 20, 21, and 22 in Speech Hall. The libretto committee for the revue consisted of Ruth Ward, Natalie Roberts, Philip Young, and William Bogie.

Margaret Frazier was dramatic director, Chauncey Lewis, assistant director; Frances Morrison, dance director; and Harold Rothert, music director.

The "Moan-On Revue" was not only a great dramatic success, but it also brought out the ability of DePauw students to compose, write, and successfully present such a production.

Re'sume' of Music

ORGANIZED primarily to further the interests of Music school students, DePauw's musical organizations have played such an important part in campus life that they have come to be regarded as the common heritage of the entire University. By affording actual experience in concert work, they form a valuable adjunct to the classroom work of the Music school, but membership is open to all students in the University, and many Liberal Arts students also participate in the various organizations. The presentations of the groups, needless to say, are always well attended and are enthusiastically received, conclusive proof that college students of today still appreciate good music.

One of the largest and most active of the campus musical organizations during the past year was the Men's Glee club. Tryouts held early in the fall attracted an exceptionally large number of aspirants from which a well-balanced group was chosen. The club sang a few out-of-town engagements and appeared several times at University functions and chapel programs. The club this year was conducted by Prof. Charles Pearson. It is a permanent organization and elects officers from year to year.

The University choir under the direction of Dean R. G. McCutchan affords an opportunity for the study and rendition of the best in sacred and secular music. During the spring the choir accompanied by the University sextette took a trip through the northern part of the state. The choir was also honored again this year by an invitation to sing at the University of Chicago in its new chapel.

The University sextette accompanies the choir on all its trips. It also appears in many campus and chapel programs. It is a group unique in both instrumentation and repertoire.

Few universities can boast of organizations that are the equal of the DePauw symphony orchestra. Directed by Prof. Rowland Leach, its pleasing selection of program and excellence of rendition have elicited favorable comment from many sources. Membership in the orchestra now totals sixty-five who are selected by a committee of faculty members during competitive tryouts.

The DePauw military band plays at all military formations and many football and basketball games. The forty-piece organization is under the direction of Medford E. Maxwell. It is one of the oldest musical organizations on the campus, closing its thirteenth year this spring.

Organists have an organization of their own in the American Guild of Organists which is open only to organ majors. It was organized in November, 1925, as a branch of the Indiana chapter at Indianapolis with which it held monthly banquets during the past year.

Rounding out its program of varied activities the Music school presented "The Mikado" for its annual operatic production this spring. The cast was selected from among the advanced students of Music school. The choruses were made up of students chosen from the student body by competitive tryouts. The production was well executed from both a musical and dramatic standpoint and proved very popular.

Although not falling within the scope of the Music school, the "Moan-On Revue," presented by A.W.S., was one of the most pretentious campus productions of the year. The production was written, its songs composed, directed, and enacted entirely by students.

Men's Debate

DEPAUW DEBATE TEAMS have gained wide recognition in forensic circles because of their excellence in the art of argumentation. This year's varsity squad upheld the precedents of former years and enjoyed a most successful season under the guidance of Prof. Herold T. Ross, the coach.

Four questions were discussed during the season. The initial contest was held with Indiana university; and the DePauw team, favoring the proposition of adopting a policy of national disarmament, was awarded the decision. Debates on the St. Lawrence waterway proposition, a resolution to limit entrance to institutions of higher learning to those of special ability, and a declaration that national advertising is socially and economically undesirable formed the basis for arguments during the season. The last two propositions were used in debates against the University of West Virginia, Mount Union college, and the University of Cincinnati during the eastern trip of the senior team which formed the feature of the season.

Regular debates were held in triangular discussions with Butler and Miami universities, Oakland City college and Wabash college, and Greenville college and Lake Forest college.

The team which took the eastern trip was composed of Franklin Cole, Robert Small, and Robert Kimberlin. In addition to these three, the debate squad was made up of Angus Cameron, Arthur Funston, John George, John Hughes, David Lewis, Rowland Matthies, Robert Orr, Minor Myers, George Obear, and George Williams. Those on the reserve squad were: Farrington Bridwell, Max Bowman, John Derkits, Ray Donaldson, James Irwin, Norman Ferguson, Mahlon Gilbreath, Harold Jack, Allen Jeffries, Virgil Miller, and Edwin Tomlinson.

Top Row—J. McNutt, S. Smith, H. Dickinson, M. Baldwin.

Women's Debate

THE women's debate team which was organized three years ago has enjoyed a most successful existence on the DePauw campus.

This year the coeds under the direction of Miss Claora Bell had a more extensive schedule than in preceding years. The question debated with other universities was, Resolved: "That the Chain Store System is Detrimental to the Public Welfare."

The season opened with a dual decision debate with Franklin college on February 26. Mary Rhue, Emma Jean Burke, and Elizabeth Cook composed the affirmative and Louise Freeland, Evlyn Richey, and Cora Ewan, the negative. Both teams won the judges' decision.

On March 3 another dual debate was held with Miami university. The same debaters composed the teams for this contest. Since the Oregon plan was used at Miami, it required a thorough analysis of the question. The audience decision was in favor of the DePauw teams.

Wittenberg college met the varsity negative on March 5. Mary Elizabeth Baldwin, Esther Bash, and Cora Ewan were the speakers. March 11 was the date for the clash with the Western State Teachers college from Kalamazoo, Michigan. Jane McNutt, Gladys Rohrig, and Bethel Williams upheld the affirmative.

On March 24 the coeds held their last dual debate with St. Mary's of the Woods. Mary Rhue, Emma Jean Burke, and Elizabeth Cook debated the affirmative side of the question and Clare McKim, Helen Dickinson, and Evlyn Richey argued the negative.

The climax of the season was reached on March 25 when the DePauw affirmative team composed of Louise Freeland and Elizabeth Cook debated over radio station WKBF with Western State Teachers college.

Top Row—E. Alldredge, J. Chesterfield, R. Lowther, D. Elliotte, C. Stanley, A. Huckleberry.

Bottom Row—W. Spray, J. Millet, R. Brunow, H. Urban, M. Yoder, Prof. H. T. Ross.

Freshman Debate

THE freshman debate team under the direction of Prof. Herold T. Ross showed remarkable development during the debating season and is expected to furnish several debaters for varsity competition next year.

The freshmen have gained considerable knowledge concerning debate technique and delivery by attending meetings of the varsity team. The study of plans and methods employed by varsity men in their debates proved to be an important element in the freshman training.

The purpose of having a freshman team is to acquaint beginners with the work, in order to provide material for future debate teams. The satisfactory result of this plan justifies its continuation.

This year a freshman women's debate team was organized. Its work was carried on in much the same manner as was that of the men.

The members of the freshman women's team were: Margaret Johnston, Mary Sargent, and Sarah Smith.

The members of the freshman men's team were: Everett Alldredge, Robert Brunow, John Chesterfield, Daniel Elliotte, Alan Huckleberry, Richard Lowther, John Millet, Francis Pritchard, William Spray, Cedric Stanley, Hubert Urban, and Marion Yoder.

Top Row—P. Hyun, V. Miller, H. Conway, G. Williams, H. Jack, E. Tomlinson, B. Williams, M. Shannon, N. Ferguson.

Second Row—Prof. H. B. Gough, Miss L. Calvert, Prof. R. E. Williams, K. Siegelin, E. Siegelin, R. Klamer, A. Winslow, M. Pitchford, G. Rohrig, V. Pruitt, S. Bond.

Third Row—Miss C. Bell, J. George, M. Farris, D. Muir, J. McNutt, G. Gruenwald, M. Eller, R. Alspaugh, O. Gustin.

Mask and Gavel

IN 1925 a group of students majoring in the department of public speaking formed an organization which they called the Public Speaking club. The purpose of the club was to give those interested in dramatics an opportunity to obtain instruction in dramatic work as well as to gain the experience of speaking in public. Later the name Mask and Gavel was adopted, and a regular program of meetings arranged.

This year the club has been sponsored by Prof. Herold T. Ross and assisted by the cooperation and interest of the entire speech faculty. A party was held at Christmas time at which shadow pictures were the feature entertainment. In February a series of open meetings to be held monthly in Speech Hall, was inaugurated. The public was invited, and programs of dramatic readings, plays, and debates were presented.

Another project undertaken by the club during the year was the furnishing of a room in the basement of Speech hall to be used for business and social meetings. Duzer Du and the Y. W. C. A. as well as Mask and Gavel used this room, and it has helped to fill the need of a convenient meeting place for other groups.

The officers of the club were: Cora Ewan, president; Dorothy Rutter, vice-president; Ruth Kattman, secretary; and John Hughes, treasurer.

"The Goose Hangs High"

THE Old Gold Day play this year was "The Goose Hangs High," a three-act play by Stewart Beach, presented in Speech Hall October 11 and 12. Louise Freeland and Archibald Voorhis played the leads as Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ingles, the parents of a typical American family. Bradley and Lois, the harum-scarum spendthrift twins, just home from college, were well acted by Robert Small and Helen Foster. Robert Kimberlin played the part of Hugh, the eldest son, and Kathryn Tofaute took the part of his fiance, Dagmer Carroll. Margaret Frazier gave an excellent interpretation of the somewhat quarrelsome and stubborn grandmother who highly disapproved of the younger generation. Other parts in the play were Leo Day as an alderman; Gladys Rohrig as Julia Murdock, an aunt; Richard Crowder, her son; Helen St. John as Rhoda, the cook; and Robert Orr as Elliott Kimberlin, a politician.

The play deals with the joys and tribulations of the average American family. The children, although ultra-modern and rather thoughtless, have sterling qualities underneath. The father, angered by the corruption of the city council, resigns his office. Realizing that he will not have the money to send his children back to school, he wishes to retract his resignation, but his wife will not permit his doing so. In this time of crisis the twins show their real worth and shoulder their portion of the family's financial burden. The grandmother appoints Mr. Ingles director of her business affairs, thus saving the day and enabling the twins to return to college.

"Sun-Up"

A high point of the DePauw dramatic season was the splendid performance of "Sun-Up", a three-act tragedy by Lulu Volmer. The performances were given November 8 and 9. Gladys Rohrig was cast in the lead of the play. She did a remarkable piece of acting in the role of Widow Cagle, the hardened mountain woman who showed flashes of tenderness beneath the sterner surface. Eva Robinson acted the the part of Emmy Todd, the sweet mountain girl whose husband was killed in the war. Franklin Cole played convincingly the role of "Rufe" Cagle, Widow Cagle's son and Emmy's husband. Chester Osgood gave a splendid performance in his character role of "Pap" Todd. Other members of the cast were Robert Orr, the villainous sheriff; Dwight Neal, the feeble-minded Bud Todd; Rexford Smith, the preacher; and Robert BonDurant, the stranger. The play, dealing with the lawless, shiftless mountaineer people, was filled with emotion. Widow Cagle with her bitter hatred for law was the embodiment of the mountaineer spirit.

The stage setting was designed and constructed by the class in dramatic production under the direction of Prof. Herold T. Ross. The rough log walls, muskets hanging over the fireplace, the candle molds, and the fire bellows lent a realistic touch to the scenes. Prof. Robert E. Williams and Miss Lucile Calvert directed the play. The properties were in the care of Josephine Travis, Martha White and Emma Jean Burke.

Seventh Heaven

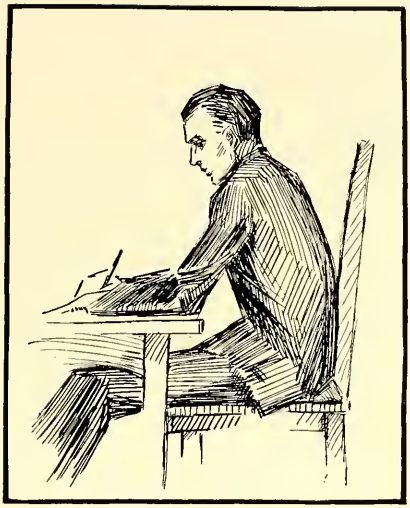
THE third dramatic production of Duzer Du this year was the highly successful presentation of "Seventh Heaven", a popular three-act play by Austin Strong. The play was given March 11 and 12 in Speech hall.

The role of Diane, the little street waif who attained beauty and inspiration of soul through her great love for Chico, was well portrayed by Helen Dickinson. Putting all of her emotion and dramatic power into the characterization, she made Diane a vital, living personality. The male lead, Chico, that "remarkable fellow", a swaggering, kind-hearted atheist who always did what he didn't want to do, was vividly presented by Chester Osgood. One of the best bits of character portrayal was done by Charles Niemeyer in his comic role of Boul, the taxi driver. Kathryn Tofaute made wonderfully realistic the role of Nanna, the cruel sister and dope addict. A third person for character portrayal honors was Peter Hyun who played admirably his part as the sewer rat.

Other members of the cast were: Carl Hintz, James Link, John Chesterfield, Robert BonDurant, Dwight Neal, Verl Shaffer, William Cragen, Richard Crowder, Josephine Travis, Charles Lee, Rexford Smith, Sarah Crouch, John Hughes, and David Engle.

The elaborate stage settings were made by members of the class of dramatic production and by pledges of Duzer Du. This part of the work was under the direction of Miss Lucile Calvert. Prof. Harry B. Gough and Miss Claora Bell directed the play.

The fourth Duzer Du play of the season was "Craig's Wife". Mary Rhue and Franklin Cole played the leading roles.



Departmental Clubs

Top Row—P. Glick, W. Gloger, G. May, A. Light.

Second Row—C. Smith, L. Spaulding, C. Epperson, R. Murphy.

Chemistry Club

THE CHEMISTRY CLUB was organized in 1908, and its membership has always been restricted to junior and senior majors in the department. The club meets every Thursday evening in the chemistry lecture room to discuss current chemical literature, and particularly to review the journals of the Chemistry society. It is not a social club; its purpose is to gather together all majors and prepare them for work in graduate school. They study the outstanding graduate schools of chemistry in America, observing the research work they have done, the articles or journals they have published, and noting the points in which each excels. The members of the club also obtain excellent practice in preparing briefs on various research problems, and these they present before the club.

The chemistry department at DePauw has one of the best college chemistry libraries in the Middle West. It was started twenty-nine years ago by Dean William M. Blanchard. It includes not only the standard books dealing with various phases of chemistry but also complete sets of chemistry journals of several countries, including two German journals, three American, and one English and American journal combined.

Last spring all of the science clubs merged into one, and the Chemistry club joined with them; but it probably will continue separately also because the larger club does not fill all of its needs.

The officers for the past year were: Herbert Carter, president; and Edgar Adams, secretary.

Top Row—J. George, Prof. M. H. Griffitts, J. Little, W. Gloger, L. Van Deusen, J. Edwards, H. Van Deusen.

Der Deutsche Bund

IN 1925 the old German club was revived and given the name Der Deutsche Bund. In 1928 it was admitted to the American Federation of German clubs. It is a social organization in which informal German conversation is encouraged. The membership is limited to those who have had two years in the department or have been especially recommended.

One of the outstanding features of the past year's work was the presentation of two plays. These were given in Speech Hall in the original German, and the public was invited to attend. "Ein Knopf" was presented by a cast made up of Helen Day, Dorothy Roby, Otto Behrens, and Harry Van Deusen. It was coached by Merle Warner.

The cast of "Die Dugneren" included Sara Stratton, Carl Hintz, Esther Hager, Louise Lucas, John Edwards, John George, Percival Allen, and John Little. This play was directed by Emma Jean Burke. "Die Lugneren" was repeated at Indiana university, with the substitution of Harry Van Deusen in the role taken by John Little.

The officers for the past year were: Percival Allen, president; Helen Day, vice-president; Merle Warner, secretary; and Walter Gloger, treasurer. Prof. Gustave Arlt is the sponsor of the organization, and Captain B. B. McMahon, Dean Louis H. Dirks, and Dr. Henry B. Longden are honorary members.

Top Row—E. Baker, Dean L. H. Dirks, Prof. E. C. Bowman, B. Laird, R. Handley, M. Stanfield, V. Shepherd, N. White.

Education Club

ALTHOUGH this is but the second year of the Education club upon the DePauw campus, its work has already placed it high among departmental organizations. Through its monthly meetings, the many and varied problems of the teaching profession are discussed. A number of outside speakers were featured, among them Dean H. L. Smith of Indiana university and Mr. Lewis Colbert of the Illinois Teachers' agency.

Membership in the club is based upon the number of hours in the department, nine being the minimum. The majority of the club's constituency is planning to teach.

Prof. Earl C. Bowman, aided by Dean Louis H. Dirks, is the sponsor of the club. The officers for the past year were: Edward Button, president; John Edwards, vice-president; Faith Ritz, secretary; and Earl Bales, treasurer.

Top Row—F. Pritchard, W. Wilson, R. Ragsdale, Prof. R. T. Stephenson, M. Dilkey, R. Crowder, T. Stephenson.

Second Row—C. Bosse, A. Nelson, P. Moore, J. Link, F. McClure, N. Ferguson, A. Swarens.

Bottom Row—M. Vincent, M. Poucher, C. Query, E. Bales, P. Townes, J. Jarrett.

Epsilon Epsilon

IN 1913 Prof. Rufus T. Stephenson organized Epsilon Epsilon with the purpose of creating interest in Greek literature and art among members of the department.

The club attempts to develop a finer appreciation of Greek culture and art. Meetings are held two or three times a semester at which time members read and discuss Greek plays.

Two of the outstanding programs given during the year were an illustrated lecture by Professor Stephenson and the presentation of a Greek tragedy by students. The lecture dealt with the greatest paragon of all dramatic enterprises, "Oedipus Tyrranus", by Sophocles. The members of the Greek tragedy class presented Sophocles' "Antigone". This play is given yearly and offers opportunity for a better understanding of extant Greek tragedy. Those who took part in the play were: Richard Crowder, Earl Bales, Francis McClure, Margaret Vincent, Margaret Poucher, and James Link.

All members of the Greek department are eligible to membership in Epsilon Epsilon. Officers for the past year were: Earl Bales, president; Charles Query, vice-president; and Margaret Poucher, secretary-treasurer.

History Club

THE HISTORY CLUB includes in its membership the faculty of the history department and the junior and senior major students who have qualified scholastically, for election to the club is based primarily upon scholarship. Until 1928 the History and Political Science clubs were combined, but since that time the clubs have met separately for their regular sessions and meet jointly only twice a semester.

The club tries to bring to the campus outstanding men in the field of history. This year Prof. F. Lee Binns of Indiana university spoke at one of the joint meetings on certain phases of the socialistic experiment in Austria. Several times during the year university faculty members have spoken on some phase of history or have given advice to students intending to go to graduate school.

General discussion of the topic under consideration takes place after each of these lectures, and club members are given an opportunity to ask questions or express their own views on the subject.

Club officers for the year were: Edward Button, president; Mary Lou Wellenreiter, vice-president; Ardith King, secretary; and Hardee Allen, treasurer.

Top Row—R. Matthies, Prof. H. M. Zink, H. Stout, Prof. W. W. Carson, Prof. H. W. Voltmer, G. Williams.

Second Row—M. O'Neal, R. Kimberlin, D. M. Lewis, G. Obear, J. Baker, J. Hughes.

Political Science Club

MEMBERSHIP to the Political Science club is limited to junior and senior majors in the department who have maintained a high scholastic standard both in their work within the department and in the University at large.

Meetings are devoted to speeches and discussions on modern political problems. Such matters as law-enforcement and national, state, and city administration often are used for themes of meetings. The club meets the second Thursday of every month. Several times during the year joint meetings are also held with the History club, its sister organization.

During the course of the year the club brings several out of town speakers to talk at its meetings. This year addresses were given by Edwin O'Neil, of the Indianapolis Times; Prof. F. Lee Binns, of Indiana university; and W. C. Dennis, president of Earlham college. The last two speakers addressed meetings held jointly with the History club.

One of the meetings of the year was devoted to the discussion of various phases of graduate work in poltical science. Prof. W. W. Carson, head of the department, spoke on some of the aims of graduate work, while Prof. H. W. Voltmer presented the requirements for this study. The life a student of the Oxford college graduate school was discussed by Hiram Stout. Another type of graduate school, the law school, was the subject of a short talk by Prof. Harold M. Zink. The meeting revealed to the members of the club a field of work they might pursue in the future.

The officers for the past year were: Angus Cameron, president; Kelso Elliott, vice-president; Margaret Harvey, secretary; Paul Boyer, treasurer.

Top Row—S. Martin, M. Alig, C. Gross, L. Chamberlain, E. Thompson, M. Heinrich, M. Cox, M. Covert.

Second Row—D. Hodson, E. Swindler, E. Voltz, V. Pomeroy, M. Hall, V. King.

Bottom Row—Mrs. Katherine Mills, Mrs. Elizabeth Proud, J. Read, H. Charley, K. Biegler, Miss Eleanor Whittinghill, Miss Mary Seed.

Home Economics Club

EIGHT YEARS AGO the Home Economics club was founded, chiefly with the view to further the interest in the department. The purpose of the club is to make money for departmental use and to study the possibilities of women in all phases of work akin to home economics. Members must be majors in the department and have as many grade points as hours.

The girls are divided into groups, each of which is responsible for making a certain amount of money to be used to buy periodicals, materials, and new equipment for the home management house. This year the club gave part of the money it earned toward the establishment of a scholarship for a girl majoring in the department. The girls earn money by giving luncheons and selling food.

Each year the club brings to DePauw some outside attraction, and this spring they sponsored a style show brought from the L. S. Ayres company of Indianapolis.

Club meetings are held once a month. Dietetics, tea room management, child welfare, and teaching are some of the different fields studied. There is usually a talk relating to some branch of home economics.

Officers of the club for the past year were: Helen Charley, president; Josephine Read, secretary; and Kathleen Biegler, treasurer. The faculty members are Mrs. Elizabeth Proud and Miss Eleanor Whittinghill.

Top Row—G. Browning, E. McCord, L. Warner, M. Dilkey, R. Crowder, W. Black, F. McClure.

Second Row—G. Riley, H. Cox, V. Hudson, L. Hunt, H. St. John, M. McCord, V. Reeder.

Latin Club

THE LATIN CLUB is the oldest departmental club on the DePauw campus. It was founded October 28, 1896, by Dean Edwin Post. He recognized the need for social comradeship between the majors of his department, and started the Latin club in order to stimulate a keener interest in the subject, to introduce new phases of the Latin field that could not be covered by regular class work, and to develop social interest along with the study. The club is open to all majors in the department and to those students who have completed sixteen hours of Latin. The club meets once a month. The first and last meetings always being held at Dean Post's house.

The meetings are devoted to the reading of papers, written by members of the club, that deal with the customs, history, and problems of Latin and of the Romans. The Latin club is informal in its meetings and fosters a friendly spirit.

The officers for the past year were: Earl Bales, president; Norman Ferguson, vice-president; and Mary Alice White, secretary. The faculty members are Dean Post, Prof. Dade B. Shearer, and Prof. Ruth Robertson.

Second Row—V. Shepherd, R. Holwager, J. Eaton, R. Brookshire, M. Joslin, H. Fetters, R. Heritage.

Napierian Club

IN December of 1924 a group of mathematics majors met to organize a club for the purpose of increasing interest and knowledge of this science. They named their club after John Napier, the eighth Laird of Merchiston, and one of the greatest scientists of his day. His name, because of his Mirific Logarithmorum Canonis Descriptio published in 1614, Rabdologia, and Constructio, has come to signify the best in mathematical progress. Like its eminent namesake, Napierian club has always stood for progress in the knowledge of mathematics. At its meetings which are held every month, papers concerning subjects not taken up in classroom work are read and discussed.

Membership to the club is elective, and open to majors in the department and to those students enrolled in advanced mathematics courses who are not majors but have a high scholastic standing and are interested in the club.

The faculty sponsors are Prof. R. W. Babcock, Prof. H. E. H. Greenleaf, and Prof. W. C. Arnold. The officers for the past year were: Charles Stunkel, president; Josephine Newkirk, vice-president; Margery Joslin, secretary; and Roy Holwager, treasurer.

Top Row—I. W. Wilson. P. Young. R. Ragsdale. A. Fields. H. Sharkey.

Second Row—O. Parrett. W. Seamen. R. Orr.

Bottom Row—J. Isackson. E. Edelmaier. J. Derkits. N. Roberts. B. Anderson.

Philosophy Club

THE PHILOSOPHY CLUB has been organized for five years. Those in the philosophy department who are majors having high scholastic standing are eligible. A few others especially interested in the field, but who were not majors, were elected to membership also. The purpose of the organization is to broaden the intellectual interest in the field of philosophy.

Current literature in the field is discussed and pertinent articles are reviewed at the meetings. At least once a year an outside speaker of note is secured to lecture before an open meeting. In addition, various faculty members of the University give lectures of interest to the club. Each senior member is required to read an original paper at a meeting sometime before he graduates.

A special feature of the club begun this year is the project of beginning a new philosophical alcove in the University library. At graduation each member will present some worth-while book as a gift, and in this way a valuable collection will be built up.

Officers of the Philosophy club for the past year were: John Derkits, president; William Seaman, vice-president; and Esther Edelmaier, secretary-treasurer. The faculty members are: Prof. L. R. Eckardt and Prof. C. D. Hildebrand.

Second Row—A. Winslow, M. Kennedy, H. Driver, J. Moore, H. Dickinson.

Bottom Row—H. Martin, B. Phelps, E. Gilmore, G. Rinehart, P. Brown, M. Power, N. Davidson.

The Press Club

THE PRESS CLUB is an organization made up of students interested in newspaper work and other forms of journalism. Its members are elected from a number of sophomore and junior applicants; students who are taking work along journalistic lines. The club has been sponsored for several years by Prof. L. E. Mitchell, and since his departure from the University, Mr. Russell Alexander, Director of Publicity, has aided in the plans and programs.

A number of speakers have brought different phases of journalistic work to the meetings. Prof. Francis C. Tilden, Mr. George L. Bird, and Mr. Alexander have been on the programs at various times. Mr. Ochiltree of the Associated Press in Indianapolis spoke early in the spring at an open meeting. Late in the year a banquet was held for which a special speaker was secured.

For the DePauw-Butler football game the club compiled and sold an illustrated program and review of the season. Undertakings of this nature have for several years been contributions of the club to DePauw.

The officers for the past year were: George Rinehart, president; Mary Power, vice-president; Harriet Martin, secretary; and Earl Heilman, treasurer. Maurice McEvoy served as the chairman of the program committee.

Top Row—C. Zinn, K. Pearson, H. Barnett, M. Bontrager, E. Shoup, E. Button, M. Power, E. Fulkerson, C. Teague, R. Spindler, O Gustin, R. Shake.

Second Row—L. Stewart, L. Roelle, M. Hoppes, L. Wolfe, H. Duff, D. Swadener, D. Valentine, E. Dodd.

Bottom Row—Prof. W. C. Middleton, K. Homan, M. Nichols, H. Towell, G. Finch, M. Deming, C. Brooks, E. Coffin, Prof. W. V. Lytle.

Psychology Club

PSYCHOLOGY majors and minors, or students having taken two or more courses in the department, are eligible to apply for membership in the Psychology club which was organized last year. It meets once a month and holds interesting discussions upon the many phases of psychology.

The club seeks to provide for such association as may be mutually beneficial to those interested in the various aspects of psychology. It endeavors to supplement the work of the classroom through the discussion of those aspects that have to do with the broader application of the subject in its social and professional fields. During the past year some of the subjects discussed in the meetings concerned personnel work, psychology in politics, Gestalt psychology, behaviorism, psychology and literature, clinical psychology, and the psychology of insanity. Lectures were also given about recent experiments in the field of psychology, of research work accomplished in that field, and about the possibilities of graduate study of psychology.

The Psychology club has been instrumental in bringing a number of outside speakers to the campus. Dr. Joseph Jastrow, the famous New York psychologist; Dr. Max Bahr, from the Central hospital in Indianapolis; Dr. Edgar L. Yeager, of Indiana university; and President L. B. Hopkins, of Wabash, have all been brought to DePauw by the Club.

The officers of the club for the past year were: Glen Finch, president; Howard Towell, vice-president; and Margaret Deming, secretary-treasurer.

Top Row—R. O'Brien, B. Bechtolt, D. Bailey, J. Burford, W. Wilson, A. Swarens.

Second Row—C. Lee, M. Smith, J. Jarrett, J. Travis, G. Crow, E. Mann, N. Cowgill.

Bottom Row—M. Bundy, E. Hibbard, I. Black, Prof. E. R. Bartlett, V. Timmons, O. Parrett, K. Atkinson.

Religious Education Club

THE RELIGIOUS EDUCATION CLUB was organized at DePauw in 1925 and since that time has carried on an extensive program.

The club is made up of two groups. Students majoring and minoring in the department automatically become members, and others who are interested in religious education may be elected to membership.

Its purpose is to provide an opportunity for additional study and research in the field of religious education and to develop a professional spirit. The meetings provide an occasion for fellowship and social intercourse among those interested in the educational program of the church.

Meetings are held the third Thursday of each month and programs are presented by club members and by professional leaders in the field of education. Mr. A. T. Albertson, general secretary of the Indiana Council of Religious Education, spoke on "Cooperative Religious Education" at one of the early meetings. Subjects pertinent to the educational work of the church and community are discussed regularly.

The officers of the club, who are elected for the year, were: Ira Black, president; Value Timmons, vice-president; Josephine Travis, secretary; and Olin Parrett, treasurer. Prof. E. R. Bartlett acts as faculty sponsor. There are five associate members, Miss Jane Farmer, Mrs. E. R. Bartlett, the Rev. B. H. Bruner, the Rev. V. L. Raphael, and the Rev. C. H. Taylor.

Top Row—S. Murray, C. Hintz, J. Hutchins; R. Wurst, W. Lyons.

Bottom Row—Prof. W. F. Mitchell, M. Gravis, W. Jones, K. Caldwell, V. Grishaw, F. Axtell.

Ricardo Club

THE RICARDO CLUB was organized last year in order to deal more fully with economic problems that cannot be covered in classroom discussion. The club has the distinction of being one of the few departmental clubs whose membership is not limited to students in the department. Everyone interested in the subject of economics is invited to join. The only obligation asked is attendance at the meetings. The club meets twice a month in one of the University buildings.

Ricardo club is organized as a corporation, and is controlled by a board of directors. One student is selected from each of the economics classes as a representative on the board. These students must be either majors or minors in the department, and their scholastic standing is taken into consideration when the choice is made. There are fifteen students on the board, and Prof. Waldo F. Mitchell is the faculty sponsor. The officers of the club for the past year were: Joseph Hutchins, president; Fred Axtell, vice-president; Kathleen Caldwell, secretary; and Marian Gravis, treasurer.

The board members for the first semester were: Evlyn Richey, Archibald Johnston, Stanley Murray, Carl Hintz, William Lyons, Fred Axtell, Angus Cameron, Philip Richman, Joseph Hutchins, Gail Browning, William Jones, Richard Wurst, Virginia Grishaw, Kathleen Caldwell, and Marian Gravis.

Top Row—Dean Wm. Blanchard, S. Gillam, T. Stephenson, Prof. E. R. Smith, Prof. T. G. Yunker, C. Sanford, Prof. B. H. Grave, Prof. O. H. Smith.

Bottom Row—C. Swick, Mrs. M. S. Hufferd, C. Smith, N. Babcock, W. Hole, H. Carter, G. Robertson, Prof. Grace Barkley, Prof. R. W. Hufferd.

Science Club

LAST SPRING through the efforts of Dean W. M. Blanchard the youngest and largest club on the campus was organized. The Science club encompasses the five science departments: chemistry, physics, botany, zoology, and geology. Its membership is restricted to the outstanding students who are juniors or seniors, and who are majoring in one of the science departments. The club is unique in that it has no student officers except a secretary. That office is at present filled by Winston L. Hole who is a physics major. The club is governed by an administrative committee which is composed of the faculty heads of the five departments.

This club brings together all the students who are interested in scientific study, and broadens their knowledge not only in their own particular fields of science but in the other departments as well. The club is open to the public, and it endeavors to have at least one outside speaker to give an address before the club during the year. The club meets once a month, and the programs alternate from one department to another. It meets in the lecture room of the science department that is responsible for the program on that evening. Usually at the meeting one of the members gives a lecture or reads a paper that deals with some phase of science that would be of interest to all science students—a subject not too technical for all to understand.

The faculty administrative committee consists of Dean Blanchard, Prof. O. H. Smith, Prof. T. G. Yunker, Prof. B. H. Grave, and Prof. E. R. Smith.

Second Row—M. Emery, M. Hoffman, J. Travis, R. Robbins, L. Wolf, V. Stair.

Bottom Row—Prof. F. M Vreeland, W. Murnane, C. Brooks, S. Murray, M. Ritter, E. Coffin, Prof. L. M. Jones.

Toynbee

TOYNBEE was organized in 1909 by Dr. C. C. North, who was at that time the head of the sociological department at DePauw. Its name is derived from that of Arnold Toynbee, the famous sociologist.

The membership of Toynbee is limited to eighteen members, only majors and minors being eligible for membership. The officers of the club for the last year were: Stanley Murray, president; Carolyn Parker, vice-president; Mary Louise Ritter, secretary and treasurer; and Catherine Brooks, historian. The latter keeps on file a complete record of the Toynbee alumni and their work after leaving school. The faculty advisor is Prof. Lester M. Jones. The club meets the second and fourth Thursday evenings of each month. It endeavors to stimulate interest in sociological research, to secure a better understanding of social work, and to provide an opportunity for major students to get better acquainted.

The members of Toynbee take several all day trips to charitable or corrective institutions in the state. In the past year they visited the Indiana State reformatory, the Indiana Penal farm, the Boy's school at Plainfield, the Riley Children's hospital, and the juvenile court at Indianapolis. These trips are beneficial inasmuch as they enable the student to acquire first-hand information about his subject. At regular meetings the program consists usually of the reading of papers by members of the club on sociological questions or talks by outside speakers. Some of the prominent lecturers who addressed the club during the past year were: Mr. Milliken of the Indiana Board of State Charities; Paul Albin, township trustee; and Judge James Hughes of the juvenile court of Indianapolis.

Departmental Clubs Re'sume'

A chief factor in the activity of college life is the departmental club. It serves as a medium between student and teachers through which they can become better acquainted with each other and with the subject in which they are both interested. The club gives to the student an opportunity to push further his investigations upon the subject in which he is specializing. The importance of the departmental club in the social and scholastic side of college life is illustrated by the number of them operating on the campus. The Latin club, founded in 1896, is the oldest club at DePauw. Now there are sixteen departmental clubs on the campus. A number of these are quite young; the Science, Ricardo, Psychology, and Education clubs were organized last year.

It is not to be understood that the Latin club was the only one in existence in 1896. It is the only one that has endured; many clubs have sprung into existence and then disbanded. Especially have there been attempts at literary clubs.

First there was the Authors club which consisted of ten members. Its purpose was to make a composite novel. A little later there was organized the H. T. B. Literary club, which encouraged and cultivated extremes in writing. In 1898 the DePauw Literary society came into existence. It was more than a literary club, as it strove for moral and social betterment as well as literary skill. The pledge which all members were required to take was, "I hereby promise to uphold, observe, and strictly obey all the demands and regulations of the constitution and by-laws. I also promise to abstain from dancing, card playing, profanity, and the use of both tobacco and intoxicants."

In contrast with the strict rules of the departmental clubs were the other campus organizations, some of which were jokes more than anything else. In old Mirages may be found notices of the founding of such organizations as the Hair-lip club, the Lights of the Lurid league, the Smith family, in which every member bore the name of Smith, and the Matrimonial club, which had a Look-Out committee of five members. Then there was Kappa Phi Omicron Alpha which was similiar in some respects to Brooklyn club. The ladies auxiliary of the organization was the Ribs and Jaw Bones club, which was organized in 1895. Its membership was composed of representatives from different sororities.

Some of the other clubs not now in existence were the DePauw Oratorical club, founded in 1892; the O. L. Bowman lyceum; the Literary and Debating society of the DePauw School of Theology; the Sociological club, founded in 1894; and the Students congress, organized in 1901, for the purpose of giving students practical knowledge of the rules and proceedings of the United States Congress.

The science department was represented in the club world by the Biological association, which met bi-weekly in order to study reviews of scientific subjects. In 1890 a club much like the present Science club was organized. It likewise consisted of all science departments consolidated into one club.

With the increase of departments the clubs have grown in number also, and the departmental organizations have admirably kept pace with the other lines of progress at DePauw.

Brooklyn Club

IN 1922 the Brooklyn club was organized on the campus, and three years later the club was admitted to the National Collegiate Bowling league, an organization composed of a number of clubs in some of the more important schools throughout the country.

The organization inaugurated intramural bowling and awards a trophy to the winner of the intramural bowling tournament. When it became evident that there was a need on the DePauw campus for a pep organization to boost DePauw athletics, Brooklyn club ceased being merely a bowling club and attempted to aid school spirit and athletics in numerous ways. This past year they have cooperated with the coaches and the director of athletic publicity. Send-offs, receptions, pep sessions, all have been sponsored by this organization.

The social aspect of Brooklyn club should in no respect be slighted. Meetings are held twice a month in the various fraternity houses, and they are attended by a congenial group of fraternity men. This aspect tends to break down fraternity barriers which are so often prevalent in a school of this size. The fellowship which springs up in these meetings manifests itself in a better attitude of fraternity men toward other fraternities. The actual good accomplished by a men's social club of this nature is greater than is often apparent.

During the past year the club has been fortunate in securing as honorary members Captain Bernard B. McMahon and Coach Raymond R. Neal. It is hoped that in the future this contact will prove not only valuable to the organization but to the school as a whole. The officers for the past year were: Howard C. Petersen, president; and Paul Blake, secretary-treasurer.

Chicago Club

EARLY in the fall of last year a group of students whose homes are in or near Chicago met to form a social club. They decided to call it the Chicago club and to make it an active means of increasing fellowship and cooperation among students from that region. Its purpose is not only to further social contacts while here in school, but to encourage loyalty and interest after graduation. The DePauw Alumni association of Chicago is sponsoring the organization and plans to cooperate with it in its work.

The club had little business to transact and consequently met only a few times during the year. It made arrangements for holding a dinner dance during Christmas vacation for DePauw students. The dance was held in the Terrace Gardens of the Morrison hotel and proved to be quite a success.

Such a club as this has its place on the DePauw campus. It has great possibilities for future development inasmuch as a large number of students come here from Chicago and the surrounding vicinity. There are prospects for several dances during the summer months.

The officers who served during the past year were: Donald Eaton, president; and Betty Cherney, secretary.

Cosmopolitan Club

THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB was organized at DePauw in 1922 in order to create a common ground on which foreign and American students might meet and discuss their problems. They chose for a motto—"Above All Nations Humanity". Soon after its founding, the club was admitted to Coda Fratres, the national association.

Meetings are held every two weeks and consist of programs of international character, showing customs and arts of various countries, and presenting racial and international problems.

DePauw was chosen as the executive chapter of the national organization for the past year and the coming one. The national convention is to be held here in December, 1930. Prof. O. H. Smith is at present the national president and Prof. G. B. Manhart, national treasurer. J. Percival Allen is president of the district in which the DePauw chapter belongs.

The officers for the past year were: Peter Hyun, president; Faith Ritz, vice-president; J. Percival Allen, secretary; and Carl Hintz, treasurer. There are also a number of honorary members, including: Prof. and Mrs. O. H. Smith, Prof. G. B. Manhart, Prof. Harold M. Zink, Prof. Ermina Mills, Dr. and Mrs. Byron H. Wilson, Dr. C. Howard Taylor, and Miss Mary Glenn Hamilton.

Oxford Club

A local organization of student preachers was formed at DePauw in 1921 and became in the same year a charter member of the national Oxford club formed at Northwestern university. It is an inter-denominational fraternity of clergymen in undergraduate schools whose purpose is "to promote the challenge of the Christian ministry".

Meetings, held at various campus buildings and homes of professors, have been addressed by Prof. Carroll D. Hildebrand, Dr. C. Howard Taylor, Mr. McCracken of the Theological School of the University of Chicago, and Mr. Gilbert from Drew seminary. A meeting shortly before the initiation in March was featured by three-minute sermons from each of the pledges.

The national convention of Oxford clubs was held this year at Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Iowa. Charles Query, treasurer of the local chapter, was sent as a delagate to this meeting.

The officers for the past year were: Olin Parrett, president; Walter Wilson, vice-president; Arthur Swarens, secretary; and Charles Query, treasurer. The work of the club has been sponsored and supervised by Professor Hildebrand, Prof. Vernon Lytle, Prof. Edward Bartlett, and Prof. Lester Jones.

Tusitala

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON is remembered not only for his skill as a narrator and as a poet, but also for his mastery of prose style. In recognition of his leadership the DePauw literary organization chose as its name the title given him by his friends in Samoa where he spent the last years of his life—Tusitala, the "teller of tales".

Tusitala is composed of students interested in literary composition other than journalism. The club is of a Bohemian character, with no officers, ritual, or regular meeting place. The members assemble at unexpected times and places for the reading and criticism of manuscripts offered by several of their number.

Membership is based entirely upon creative talent. Each year certain interested and capable students are invited to submit to this organization original manuscripts which have not been previously published or criticized. On the basis of these works new members are chosen. Just before commencement a traditional banquet is given for the pledges, at which time they are initiated into Tusitala.

Miss Judith Sollenberger and Miss Mary Glenn Hamilton have aided the club in many ways during the past year.

Top Row—S. Rhue, M. F. White, B. Britton, J. Ross, A. Runyon, R. Wagoner, A. Williams, M. Kiser, D. A. Dean.

Second Row—E. Martin, M. Weissgerber, E. Coffin, E. Cox, M. Biggerstaff, E. Voltz, E. Poorman, G. Rogge, D. Muir.

Third Row—M. Farris, F. Patton, M. Smith, D. Baxter, M. Crook, M. Hostetler, E. Priddy, I. Lowe, J. Epperson.

Bottom Row—M. Hill, D. Hautau, R. Klamer, E. Rumpf, B. Phelps, H. Justice, D. Hoopengardner, V. Stair, S. Woodfill, M. Carney.

Women's Rifle Club

RIFLE MARKSMANSHIP has been rapidly gaining favor with sportswomen on the DePauw campus. Those particularly interested have formed a club with the purpose of increasing participation in the sport through interhouse and intercollegiate matches. The season this year was considerably delayed on account of the condemnation of the armory and West college, but since the completion of the rifle range in the new armory, work has gone on more efficiently than ever before.

W. S. A. points are given for marksmanship, twenty-five points for a place on the varsity team and twenty-five additional points for regular practice at least twice a week.

An interhouse match was held during the last week in February and the following week an interclass match was held. Intercollegiate matches were also scheduled with Indiana university, University of Southern California, University of California, Drexel institute, Philadelphia, University of Nebraska, Municipal university of Wichita, Carnegie Tech, University of Vermont, Michigan State and the University of South Dakota.

The officers who took charge during the past year were: Helen Justice, president; Bernice Phelps, secretary-treasurer; Deborah Hoopengardner, W.S.A. representative.

Those friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel;
But do not dull thy palm with entertainment
Of each new-hatch'd, unfledg'd comrade.

Re'sume' of Fraternities

FRATERNITIES play a more important part on the DePauw campus than they do in most other schools. Fourteen national organizations, including over seventy per cent of the men, are represented on the campus and predominate in practically all aspects of university life.

Since DePauw was one of the earliest educational institutions in the Middle West, it naturally became one of the first seats of fraternalism. The rigid puritanical restrictions imposed by school authorities regarding smoking, drinking, gambling, dancing, and card-playing seemed to foster rather than restrict social organizations, and caused the fraternities which were created to be of an exceptionally high caliber.

Due to the prestige of Greek-letter societies and their efforts to secure good men, the fraternities soon collected the best material of DePauw. They predominated not only the campus activities, but sponsored, unofficially, even campaigns of the school.

Their first step was to provide for student social life. They held their meetings and spent spare time in rented apartments above the stores circling the Greencastle public square, and later remedied the University's inadequate housing facilities by converting private dwellings into fraternity houses. When more room was needed they built rambling additions on their lots, and as these became inadequate, they instigated the building program which made DePauw famous for its fine fraternity houses. These form roughly a hugh circle about the school, house from thirty-five to fifty men each, and give a most impressive appearance to visitors of DePauw. Unless the school expands its present enrollment policy, fraternity growth on the campus can be said to have reached its maximum.

These organizations play a most important role in getting men to enter school. But they probably benefit the freshman most. After a freshman's matriculation, it is in large measure the fraternity which molds him into the spirit of the school, keeps him from becoming homesick, and turns him into the social college man. It polishes his actions, brings him into contact with diverse personalities, teaches him to live with others, and to subordinate his interest to that of the group. It gives him practical experience in administrative affairs, inspires him through its ritual and creed, entirely revolutionizes the man, and gives him a refined and polished air.

In addition to molding the individual, fraternities to a large extent mold the college life. They sponsor the majority of social affairs, furnish the Tweeds and Crokers of campus politics, support and largely maintain intramural activities. Very little could be accomplished without the aid and cooperation of the organized men.

Although each is a unit in itself, the fraternities blend most evenly into the life of the campus as a whole. They lend themselves readily to cooperate in University projects, add incentives to scholarship, athletics, and all departments of activity, and are probably the main reason for the maintenance of that well-known spirit of DePauw. Their high caliber is of special importance for they are to a large degree men's criterion for judging the school.

Re'sume' of Sororities

A HISTORY of the development of sororities on this campus takes us back to the days when DePauw university was Indiana Asbury and the principles of coeducation were generally debated. Despite the insecure position of women in the academic world, four coeds introduced another innovation when they organized Kappa Alpha Theta, "the first Greek letter fraternity known among women", January, 1870. Later the mother chapter of another well known national organization came into being at DePauw when Alpha Chi Omega was founded in 1880.

These two groups with chapters of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Phi formed the sorority tradition which is still present on the campus. Gradually it was strengthened by the establishment of other prominent groups—Alpha Omricon Pi, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Zeta, Alpha Gamma Delta, Phi Omega Pi, and Kappa Delta. Today the ten chapters of women's national fraternities occupy an important place in undergraduate circles.

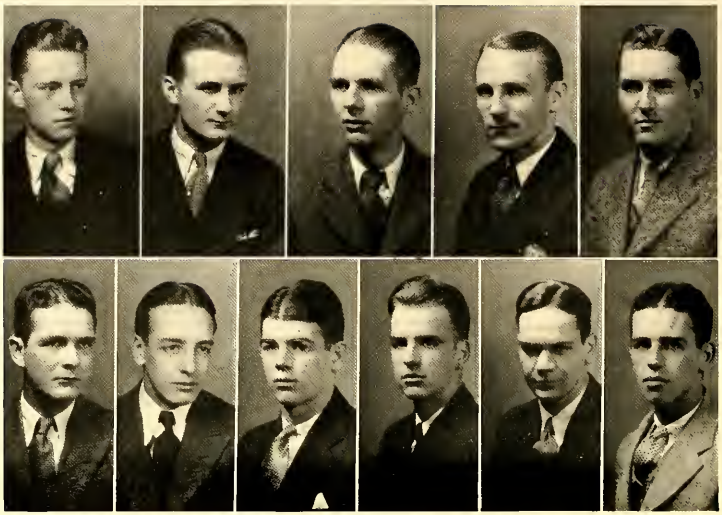
Such organizations endeavor to embody the highest ideals of the true college woman, to fill a definite social need by offering girls a means for securing true companionships and a medium through which wider contacts may be formed. A college rule that sorority pledges spend their first year in the women's dormitories guarantees a broader basis for the friendships of the upperclassmen years.

The attractive homes of Greek letter organizations, not only simplify the local housing situation and add to the beauty of the University, but they offer that home-like atmosphere so important to youth. In this connection a quotation from Baird is pertinent: "Chapter house life is having a great influence on fraternity character. It has its advantages and its disadvantages. It insulates habits of business, it develops social discipline, it promotes fraternal sentiment, and it affords opportunity for many instances of mutual helpfulness. It develops pride of organization, it arouses the ambition, and in some sense promotes college allegiance."

This last phrase is, indeed, illustrated at DePauw where the administration has the fullest cooperation from fraternities. Moreover, Greek-letter organizations contributes to the DePauw spirit by keeping their alumnae in close touch with chapter and college. Special gatherings of "old grads", such as the luncheons and dinners on Old Gold day and during Commencement week, are important factors in this work.

On many college campuses women's fraternities tend to arouse ill-feelings among coeds and to divide the student body. Such is not the case at DePauw where they make for unification and advancement by upholding similar group ideals of scholarship, activities, and social life.

HONORARIES



Top Row—K. Elliott, A. Cameron, J. Royer, F. Robbins, D. M. Lewis.

Bottom Row—W. Hadley, N. Babcock, H. Kappes, J. Stanley, H. Hill, J. Rupe.

Kappa Tau Kappa

TO bring about cooperation among fraternities and to facilitate relations between fraternities and the administration has been the principle followed by Kappa Tau Kappa. In view of the work accomplished on the campus it is considered one of the highest senior honors to be a wearer of the black eagle emblem.

Representatives from each of the older national fraternities are selected in recognition of superiority in different phases of college life. Kappa Tau, founded in 1902, holds such a significant place in campus affairs that its ambition to be recognized nationally as a chapter of the inter-fraternity council is merited.

Activities of the organization include the annual stag banquet for athletic recognition, the supervision of Old Gold Day contests, the cup annually given to the fraternity maintaining the highest scholastic average, and the inter-fraternity exchange of guests. Promotion of a friendly feeling between the various groups in order to make a more united and loyal student body is effected by the regular weekly meetings held in the different houses.

Officers of Kappa Tau for the year were: Angus Cameron, president; John Rupe, vice-president; and Fred Robbins, secretary-treasurer.

Second Row—E. Edelmaier, G. Emmons, C. Brooks, F. Morrison, M. Weissgerber, V. Morgan.

Bottom Row—O. Gustin, D. Rutter, D. Valentine, H. Justice, H. Hill, A. M. Kimmel, A. Thompson.

Pan-Hellenic Council

GREATER cooperation among sororities on the DePauw campus is insured by the Pan-Hellenic council. Each house elects a junior and a senior to serve as representatives at the regular monthly meetings Not only does the council deal with local problems existing among the sororities in regard to social matters, but it also promotes the national aims by regulating pledging, providing mutual understanding, and raising scholastic standards.

Meetings throughout the year embody discussions of inter-house relations, exchange of ideas on fraternity policies, and comparison of the distinctive features of various societies. One valuable function of the organization is the formation and enforcement of rules governing rushing.

Primary among the ideals of Pan-Hellenic are those relating to scholarship. The campus group standing highest in this respect is awarded a cup at the annual banquet held in the spring for those girls making forty or more points during the first semester.

Another social function was the Valentine formal dance to which representatives of different classes within the campus groups were invited.

Officers for the past year were: Mary Elizabeth Briggs, president; and Anne Louise Hughes, secretary-treasurer.

Top Row—L. Everson, G. Rinehart, B. McCormack, H. Hill, W. Bogie.
Second Row—G. Van Riper, J. Rupe, R. Small, R. Ryker, E. Van Riper.
Bottom Row—R. Alexander, M. McEvoy, Prof. R. W. Pence, J. Taylor, G. Smock.

Sigma Delta Chi

SIGMA DELTA CHI, national professional journalistic fraternity, had its inception at DePauw in 1909. On the north side of historic East college a bronze tablet bears witness to this fact. Since its foundation the organization has grown so rapidly that there are now forty-two chapters in the United States and Canada.

Membership in the society is elective, and members are selected upon a basis of scholarship, journalistic activities, intentions, and character. Pledges, who are elected early in the spring, may be recognized by their black and white ribbons, while active members wear black hats with the Greek letters in white.

Weekly meetings throughout the school year offer opportunity for strengthening the bonds of friendship and mutual interest. Specific activities include the publication of the Yellow Crab, DePauw's humorous magazine, and the sponsoring of the annual sport writers convention. In addition to these, individual members are prominent in all branches of campus journalism.

Officers of Sigma Delta Chi for the past year were: Guernsey Van Riper, president; George Rinehart, vice-president; William Bogie, secretary; and Buren McCormack, treasurer. New members include: Philip Young, Robert Lowe, Richard Wurst, John Moore, Paul Boyer, Lytle Freehafer, Farrington Bridwell, Thoburn Wiant, and William Lee.

Top Row—M. Niblack, V. Grishaw, R. Ward, M. Baker, M. I. Smith, M. Harvey.
Bottom Row—E. Cook, F. Cauble, K. Homan, H. Martin, G. Gilmore, J. Isackson.

Theta Sigma Phi

THE national women's journalistic fraternity, Theta Sigma Phi, installed its Sigma chapter at DePauw in 1919. Members are elected from junior women who display unusual journalistic ability and interest.

Orchid and green ribbons back the pen points which distinguish pledges of the organization, traditionally chosen on Old Gold Day. Active members wear a gold matrix bearing the Greek letters and a flaming torch.

The shape of this pin has given a name to the annual "razz" banquet, Matrix Table. Here coeds who "rate" are satirized, and ludicrous awards are made to guests of campus notority. Another dinner of a more serious nature features a speaker of literary note.

Besides encouraging members to journalistic activity, Theta Sig annually publishes the Old Gold Day and May Day editions of The DePauw.

Recognition of coed merit is made by awarding a cup each year to the most representative senior woman.

Officers for the past year were: Ruth Ward, president: Kathryn Homan, vice-president; Mary Baker, treasurer; and Virginia Grishaw, secretary.

Top Row—W. Blanchard, E. Adams, A. Robinson, J. Barnes, I. Black, M. Howenstein, S. Gillam, W. Hole.

Phi Mu Alpha

LAMBDA of Phi Mu Alpha was installed on the DePauw campus, March 14, 1924. It is an honorary elective organization for men which aims at the promotion of fraternal friendship among those particularly interested in music. Membership is based upon talent, activity in musical lines, and character.

The national fraternity was founded in 1896 at the New England Conservatory of Music located in Boston, Massachusetts. There are now forty-nine chapters of Phi Mu Alpha, representing practically every prominent music school, and including on their roster many of the nation's greatest artists.

Campus activities of the local group during the past year included the issuance of a second edition of "Songs of DePauw," the presentation of two chapel programs, and cooperation with Mu Phi Epsilon for the service of one of the student union meetings.

Triangular, pearl-studded pins distinguish the twenty-eight active members who meet bi-monthly at the various fraternity houses.

Officers of Phi Mu Alpha for the year were: Ira D. Black, president; Edgar M. Adams, vice-president; Marshall C. Howenstein, secretary; and Prof. H. E. H. Greenleaf, treasurer.

Top Row—A. Kriege, D. Rodgers, M. Gaston, H. Chastain, M. Weissgerber, D. Barr.
Second Row—D. Deamer, F. Guymon, I. Yates, M. Stratton, F. Hollinger, M. McFall.

Bottom Row—B. Archibald, C. Sayre, M. McGill, H. Waltz, M. Hoppes, M. Fausset, G. Yuncker.

Mu Phi Epsilon

MU PHI EPSILON, honorary musical fraternity for junior and senior women, installed its Zeta chapter at DePauw on December 9, 1905. Reestablishment of the local chapter took place in 1919 when Miss Julia Alice Druley, piano instructor, championed its purpose, "the further advancement of music in America." The organization is national in scope, fifty-six chapters having been formed since the fraternity was founded in 1903 at the Metropolitan College of Music located in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Pledges to Mu Phi are selected in the spring from talented women of the sophomore class who have made a scholastic average of at least "B" in the School of Music.

Regular business meetings and programs are held bi-monthly. This spring the organization cooperated with Phi Mu Alpha in giving a musical service as one number in a series of Sunday evening vespers. A special Mu Phi chapel program was another feature of the year's work.

Officers of the organization for the past year were: Dorothy Ellen Barr, president; Dorothy Deamer, vice-president; Olga Bartelson and Hildred Hall, secretaries; and Mildred McFall, treasurer.

Top Row—K. Pearson, T. Anderson, W. Naftzger, A. Voorhis, H. Anderson, W. Bogie.
Second Row—W. Bowman, J. Biggerstaff, N. Babcock, J. Stanley, R. Small, D. Dykeman, F. Call.

Scabbard and Blade

THE DePauw chapter of Scabbard and Blade, the honorary military organization founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1904, was installed in 1923. Among the sixty-seven companies in colleges and universities in the United States, the local group is designated as "A" Company of the Fifth Regiment.

Membership in the organization is based upon outstanding military work and manly character. Pledging occurs early in the second semester; pre-initiation stunts include parading the campus in paper hats, armed with wooden guns.

Scabbard and Blade has a well defined program of activities for the year, chief among which is the fostering of interest in military work, not as a war-time necessity, but as a peace-time assurance. Since military training is no longer compulsory at DePauw, the group has set out to create sufficient enthusiasm and understanding of the aims of the department that its efficiency may not be impaired by too great a falling off of enrollment.

Officers of the unit for the year were: William Bogie, captain; John Stanley, first lieutenant; Thomas Anderson, second lieutenant; and Kenneth Pearson, first sergeant.

Top Row—S. Robards, L. Roelle, N. Davidson, M. I. Smith, E. Burke.

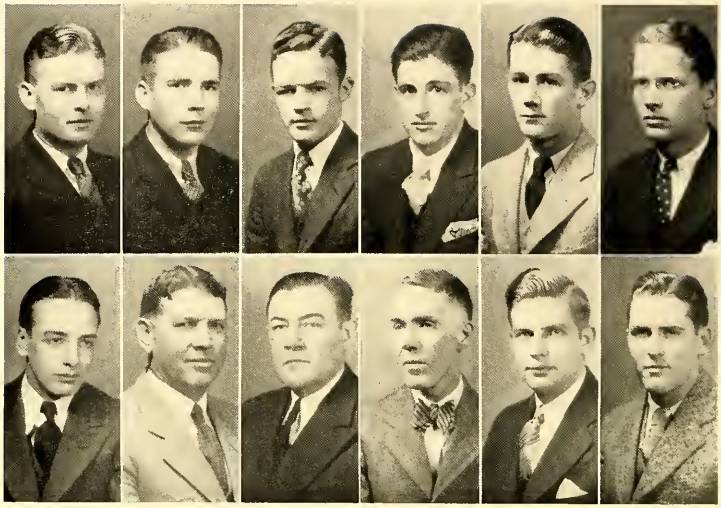
Alpha Mu Pi

AMONG the harbingers of spring on the DePauw campus is the activity of Alpha Mu Pi. This group is composed of feminine sponsors of the University military unit. Wives of the general staff officers are automatically elected to the fraternity, which was chartered at DePauw in 1924.

New pledges, selected from the sophomore class, may be recognized when they parade the campus for several days in officer's caps, bearing wooden guns, and offering smart salutes to their superior officers. Later the entire group may be distinguished at weekly formations where their white garb, broad ribbons, and swinging tassels enliven the review.

The chief duty of these "women-o'-war" is to accompany the officers during the military parade and furnish, theoretically at least, inspiration that will cause their companies to maintain a perfect line of march. This contribution of a feminine side to the army initiates more interest in the work of the local unit.

Officers during the past year were: Sally Robards, president: Emma Jean Burke, vice-president; and Mary Niblack, secretary-treasurer.



Top Row—F. Cole, H. Carter, R. Kimberlin, C. Stunkel, G. Van Riper, W. Bogie.

Blue Key

MEMBERSHIP in Blue Key, senior honorary society, is perhaps the greatest recognition that can come to a DePauw man. Since its installation on the campus in 1927, the local chapter has based its conduct on service, the fundamental principle of the organization.

Blue Key was founded at the University of Florida in 1925. Since that time forty-nine chapters have been established all over the United States.

Wearers of the Blue Key choose their successors, near the close of the year, from the most outstanding men of the junior class. These nominations, based upon scholarship, participation in at least one activity, and character, are subject to the approval of the faculty.

Promotion of the joint interests of the student body and the administration is the object of the group. Blue Key is especially fitted to act as mediator because its membership includes the men most active on the campus and several professors who are in especially close touch with the undergraduates.

The officers for the past year were: Robert Kimberlin, president; David M. Lewis, vice-president; Norman Babcock, secretary; and William Bogie, treasurer.

Top Row—F. Call, H. Bailey, B. Downs, E. Brands, J. Royer, A. Scheidt.

Bottom Row—Prof. W. F. Mitchell, Prof. W. A. Neiswanger, E. M. Bernstein, E. Keaton, C. Main, P. Montgomery, J. Stanley.

Artus Club

OMICRON DELTA GAMMA, commonly known as Artus club, installed a chapter on the DePauw campus, June 7, 1927. At this time the local Economics club was given a charter to the national organization.

Artus club is an honorary fraternity for major students in economics with high scholastic records. It was founded at the University of Wisconsin in November, 1916, and now has twelve chapters. These groups seek to encourage interest in the study of economics and the application of such knowledge in the solving of modern problems.

Meetings are held bi-monthly, at which time papers are read, discussions conducted, and various current questions considered. The organization endeavors to foster cooperation between the department and students and to widen the horizon of economic considerations by bringing to the campus outside speakers of note.

The work for the past year was so successful that the annual report of the local chapter was highly commended by the national officers, who used it as a model for activities of other chapters. During the past year, Floyd Call was president of Artus club, while James Royer served as secretary, and John Stanley as treasurer.

Top Row—F. Cole, C. Osgood, M. Frazier, H. Warriner, R. Kimberlin, E. Burke, A. Voorhis.
Second Row—L. Freeland, M. Rhue, D. Rutter, D. Neal, J. Hughes, F. Ritz.

Duzer Du

WITH improved facilities for dramatic presentations in the new Speech hall, Duzer Du enjoyed a successful year, for it offered a series of worthwhile plays to the student body.

Membership to this honorary fraternity is elective, being based upon dramatic ability as shown in the semi-annual tryouts. Tradition has it that first semester pledges of the organization appear in a group of short Christmas plays. This year they made their debut in "Why the Chimes Rang" and "The Vanishing Princess." Gladys Rohrig and Louise Freeland, experienced members of Duzer Du, coached the former, while Mary Rhue and Chester Osgood sponsored the latter.

Four full-length plays were given during the year by the organization. "The Goose Hangs High" and "Sun-up" were presented in the fall. The spring plays were the well known productions, "Seventh Heaven" and "Craig's Wife". All DePauw productions are under the supervision of the faculty of the department of speech.

Duzer Du officers for the past year were: Archibald Voorhis, president; Margaret Frazier, vice president; Faith Ritz, secretary; and Robert Small, treasurer.

Top Row—C. Osgood. M. Frazier. A. Voorhis.

Bottom Row—Prof. R. E. Williams, Prof. H. B. Gough. G. Rohrig.

Pi Epsilon Delta

PARTICULAR excellence in dramatic projects, exceptional creative work, and valuable participation in campus plays is rewarded with the gold key of Pi Epsilon Delta. This group is the twelfth of some twenty chapters of the National Collegiate Players, an organization known all over the country for its high standards in the field of amateur dramatics. The association, founded at the University of Illinois, is especially influential throughout the West and Middle West where its principal chapters are situated.

Membership in the fraternity is given to a member of Duzer Du when he has secured twenty points, based upon active dramatic work. Although Duzer Du had existed previously, this national organization did not make its appearance on this campus until 1924.

Election of new members of the fraternity is made in the spring, after local nominations and records of candidates have been passed on by the national vice-president of the organization. Such membership is the goal of the DePauw actor and craftsman.

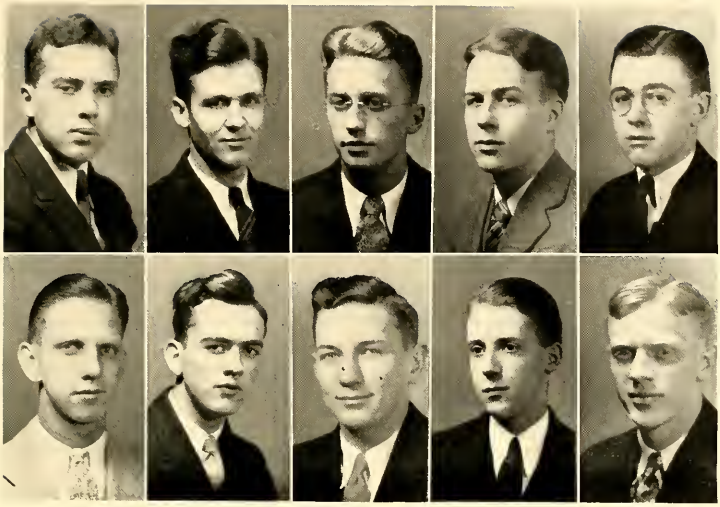
Delta Sigma Rho

IN November, 1904, occurred one of those striking coincidences which form the basis for a belief in telepathy. Almost at the same hour, two letters were posted, each suggesting to the writer of the other the formation of an intercollegiate honorary society. Prof E. E. McDermott, of the University of Minnesota, and Prof. E. Gordon, of the University of Iowa, were principals in this incident. Their dream "to encourage sincere and effective public speaking" materialized April 13, 1906, when Delta Sigma Rho was organized.

The local chapter was granted a charter in 1915. Since that time the ultimate ambition of the DePauw debater has been to wear the symbolic gold key of the organization.

Participation in intercollegiate debate is the requirement for membership. Election of new members and an initiation banquet are held annually, following the close of the debating season. Seniors who have taken part in debates, and juniors and sophomores with two or more years of experience are eligible.

During the past year, the officers of the fraternity were: David M. Lewis, president; Louise Freeland, vice-president; and Arthur Funston, secretary-treasurer.



Top Row—T. Callis, D. O'Rear, S. Murray, R. McDermond, R. Lewis.

Alpha Delta Sigma

THE year 1930 has seen introduced to the DePauw campus a chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity. Alpha Delta Sigma offers an undergraduate professional fraternity to the college man interested in advertising as a profession. With its aim, the stimulating of interest of college men in the field of advertising and assisting them in this career, Alpha Delta Sigma fills a need long felt at DePauw.

Alpha Delta Sigma was founded at the University of Missouri in 1913. Now there are twenty-seven chapters on the fraternity roll. Outstanding advantages of the fraternity are its affiliation with the Advertising Club of the World and the vocational employment bureau which is maintained.

Following a custom of the fraternity in naming each local chapter after some prominent advertising man the DePauw organization selected the name of Walter B. Cole. Mr.. Cole had formerly been national treasurer of the fraternity and was assistant advertising manager of the Studebaker corporation at the time of his death which occurred during the past year.

Charter members of the chapter are: Theodore Callis, Stanley Murray, Donald O'Rear, Robert McDermond, John Shaw, and Robert Lewis. The officers of the organization were: Theodore Callis, president; and Donald O'Rear, secretary-treasurer.

Mortar Board

THE highest honor that can come to a senior woman is membership in Mortar Board. This national organization was founded in 1918 at Syracuse, New York, by representatives from senior honorary societies at the University of Michigan, Cornell university, Swarthmore college, and Ohio university. The DePauw chapter was established the following year.

Scholarship, leadership, and service, the guiding principles of the fraternity, are standards for the selection of new members. The active seniors choose from the junior class their successors, who must be approved by the dean of women. Those who receive such recognition are "capped" at the May Day breakfast.

Through informal teas and through close friendships developed within the group, Mortar Board provides a quiet working force for cooperation between the students, campus units, and the faculty.

During the past year, Mrs. G. Bromley Oxnam, wife of the president, was made an honorary member of the organization, whose other sponsors include Dean Katherine S. Alvord, Prof. Dade Shearer, and Prof. Minna Mae Kern. Mortar Board officers for the past year were: Emma Jean Burke, president; Margaret Harvey, vice-president; Marian I. Smith, secretary; and Virginia Grishaw, treasurer.

Top Row—D. Rutter, V. Grishaw, J. Read, E. Burke, C. Ewan, M. McCord, M. Wellenreiter.

Second Row—O. Gustin, L. Ruark, H. Holland, F. Cauble, A. Morrison, H. Day, J. Isackson.

Association of Women Students

THE Association of Women Students is an organization of all DePauw coeds who are represented on the board of control by delegates from every hall and house on the campus. Besides furthering a closer unity between students, A.W.S. assists in orienting freshman women through the Big Sister movement, headed this year by Mary Niblack. In connection with this work several "mixers" and parties were given.

The publication of a handbook of rules and regulations, in fact "what every girl should know" about DePauw, was another worthwhile project of the past year. A.W.S. also sponsored a vocational guidance week under the supervision of an expert, Miss Florence Jackson. A cooperative book store in which second-hand books were sold for a small per cent was another feature of the work. Furthermore, the organization sponsored the collegiate musical production, the Moan-On Revue, written, directed, and presented by students.

Leadership in these various activities was assumed by committee chairmen on the board and the officers: Mary Louise Wellenreiter, president; Josephine Read, vice-president; Virginia Grishaw, secretary; and Mary McCord, treasurer.

Top Row—E. Cook, M. I. Smith, M. A. White, M. McFall.

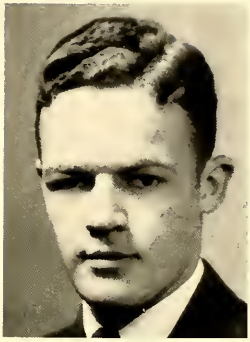
Y. W. C. A.

THE Y.W.C.A. is an organization which holds a place of its own on the DePauw campus. This year under the leadership of its competent officers: Dorothy Rutter, president; Mildred McFall, vice-president; Ruth Hall, secretary; and Elizabeth Cook, treasurer, the cabinet has completed a number of successful projects. Miss Janet Beroth, Mrs. Byron H. Wilson, Miss Anne Olmstead, and Miss Ruth Robertson have given valuable guidance to the executives.

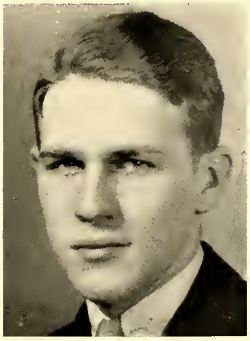
General devotional and instructive meetings every Thursday are supplemented by special groups who meet bi-monthly to discuss the problems with which each one is concerned. Cabinet leaders of these various committees are: Marian Smith, personality; Anne Morrison, international contact; Carolyn Parker, social service; Betty Lou Hunter, programs; and Alice White, publicity.

Special activities of the past year included the annual "Strawberry Breakfast" on May Day morning; the party for freshman women given the first week of school; the Christmas party in conjunction with A. W. S. for primary school children; and the Cabinet Training council held at DePauw, April 4-6, for representatives of Indiana Y.W.C.A. groups.

Geneva Award



FOR the summer of 1929 a special scholarship was awarded two prominent DePauw undergraduates, Robert Kimberlin and J. Percival Allen. These men were part of a group sponsored by the Foundation for the Advancement of Social Sciences, an organization connected with the University of Denver. Under the leadership of Professor Cherrington of Denver university, the party of thirty-six, representing eight nationalities, enrolled in the Geneva School of International Studies for a two months session.



Classes were held in the Conservatoire, adjacent to the University of Geneva; and the students had access to the libraries of the League of Nations, the International Labor Office, and the Institut des Hautes Etudes Internationales. The School program included neither examinations nor grades to distract from interesting and instructive lectures by world figures. The curriculum was enriched by attendance at the opening session of the Tenth League of Nations, where the students were privileged to observe assembly, council, and committees at work. In addition, formal and informal seminars contributed to a mutual understanding among the students.

A comment from one of our representatives is pertinent in this connection. "One might divide the contacts into two groups: the academic, acquaintance made in discussion seminars and lectures; and the social, friendships made at dances, swimming parties, teas, hikes, etc. Of the two probably one is less likely to recognize the importance of the latter. In the casual, unstudied remarks of student conversation you find many opportunities to become acquainted with those little peculiarities of thought which one does not meet so often in America. And when you explain one of your own peculiar customs—whether it be eating corn off the cob or 'cutting in' at a dance—you can not help being impressed with the fact that yours is not the only people on earth; and if others, in cognizance of that fact, try to understand you, then it is only fair to make a tolerant endeavor to understand them. By replacing stereotyped conceptions of nationalities with the consciousness that people of other lands are more like us than unlike us, these contacts contributed to the development of an understanding which we like to think is entirely in keeping with our present conditions of necessary cooperation of internationalism."

Alpha Lambda Delta

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA, national scholastic fraternity for freshman women, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1923 to encourage high scholarship on that campus. It has since been extended to DePauw, Purdue, Michigan, and Oklahoma State. The DePauw chapter, founded in 1926, now has an enrollment of eighty.

The first biennial national convention of Alpha Lambda Delta was held this year at the University of Illinois to determine the fraternity's policies for extension, and establish for it a permanent educational program. Evlyn Richey and Mary Elizabeth Hughes represented the local chapter. The next convention, to be held in 1932, will be at DePauw.

Dean Louise Leonard of the University of Illinois is founder and grand president of the organization.

Eligibility for membership is based upon the grade-point system, with a requirement of thirty-eight points for the first semester or a sum of seventy-five points for the first and second semesters. The fulfillment of this requirement automatically elects the students to membership.

Officers during the past year included: Evlyn Richey, president; Mary Beyer, vice-president; Eleanor Rumpf, secretary; and Mary Elizabeth Hughes, treasurer.

Top Row—W. Bottorff, W. Osterling, L. Woodward, J. Millett, P. Billings, R. Brunow, L. Paris, O. Robinson, B. Sturgis.

Second Row—W. Spray, C. Whitson, C. Geile, R. Dawson, G. Hiatt, L. Duncan, B. Taylor, J. McCartney, V. Shaffer.

Bottom Row—H. Carter, G. Woodside, E. Whipple, C. Geiger, O. Behrens, R. Kendall, J. Edwards, V. Loescher, Prof. Louis H. Dirks.

Phi Eta Sigma

PHI ETA SIGMA came into existence as a freshman honor society, March 22, 1923, at the University of Illinois. There was a general feeling that recognition of scholastic ability and hard work which came in the senior year was too late to serve one of the primary purposes of such recognition, stimulation to greater endeavor.

Since its foundation, under the auspices of Dean Thomas Arkle Clark, the worth of such an organization has been recognized in other institutions and there has been a nationalization of the fraternity. Its chapter roll now numbers ten universities, of which DePauw is the ninth.

The local group was installed April 18, 1929. Charter members included those men whose record for the first semester, or the entire freshman year averaged thirty-eight points or better.

During the past year, Dean Louis H. Dirks, faculty sponsor, and Herbert Carter, senior advisor, have guided Phi Eta Sigma. Its officers were: Otto Behrens, president; Charles Geiger, vice-president; and Robert Kendall, secretary-treasurer.

RECTOR SCHOLARS

Rector Scholarship Foundation

EDWARD RECTOR once spoke of his interest in DePauw as his "most satisfactory and profitable investment"; he verified these sincere words by an even more convincing and eloquent deed—the establishment of a Rector Scholarship Foundation. In this gift he dedicated his three-fold wealth —that of purse, intellect, and heart—to an investment in humanity, the men and women of tomorrow.

The small group of forty-seven Rector scholars in 1919 has constantly increased until now there are 524 Rector scholars at DePauw. It is the present intention to award 200 scholarships each year, not merely to out-standing graduates of Indiana high schools, but to worthy students in other parts of the country. Today fifteen per cent of the number on the campus are from other states; this geographical diversity is not least among the benefits secured by the Foundation.

In addition to the regular scholarships, special awards are open to high point students of the various classes and to any freshman man making fifty or more points during his first year. A loan fund from which honor scholars may borrow is another feature of Mr. Rector's benevolence.

In order to assist promising University graduates in advanced work, six traveling fellowships, amounting to $1,200 each, are awarded by the foundation to members of the graduating class, men or women, who can qualify.

The class of 1930 was fortunate in enjoying an additional award, so that its fellows are seven: Herbert Carter, Helen Day, James Funston, Winston Hole, Robert Kimberlin, Helen Louise Cox, and Russell Rosenkrans. These students expect to apply their fellowships in graduate work at leading European and American universities. Surely such men and women will justify the trust of the foundation and its beloved director, Vice-president Henry B. Longden, whose interpretation of the Rector ideal is an inspiration to DePauw.

Phi Beta Kappa

MEMBERSHIP in Phi Beta Kappa represents a very real achievement in the life of an undergraduate. This honorary fraternity, the oldest of Greek letter organizations, recognizes high scholarship.

It was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia. Three years later, in December, 1779, the second chapter came into being at Yale, changing Phi Beta Kappa from a local to a national organization.

The local charter was granted in 1889 when the Indiana Alpha chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was established on the DePauw campus.

Wearers of the official gold key are chosen primarily for scholarship, but character and constructive activities are also considered. New members are selected by actives in each chapter, and usually include, on the DePauw campus, approximately the upper ten per cent of the class.

The election and initiation of members is held in the spring of the year. Women are admitted on an equality with men. This was obviously not intended by the founders, but fidelity to the test of scholarship required it.

The student members of the organization elected from the class of 1930 are:

James Aikman
F. Hardee Allen
Mary Elizabeth Briggs
Herbert Carter
Helen Charley
Margaret Cochran
Helen Day
Esther Edelmaier
James Funston
Margaret Harvey
Winston Hole
Robert Kimberlin

Re'sume' of Honoraries

THAT students of congenial tastes are brought together in the various honorary organizations of DePauw is but one more indication that the campus is a miniature world. Here, as in a broader life, there is a tendency for people of common interests to establish contacts. This very natural course of events would explain in part the highly organized character of the University.

That many of these organizations are undemocratic in theory and form must be granted: their very nature presupposes a certain secrecy and narrowness —their background implies a certain discrimination in membership, but no more than the average social, political, and economic distinctions of typical American clubs

Admitting the evils of the system, one still finds ample justification for campus "honoraries" for they fill an important place in university life. Nor is their purpose completely pictorial as one might gather from popular descriptions of colleges, which feature highly ornamental garbs like pirate hats for "Skull and Bones" and flowing ties for "Palette and Pen". From the representative nature of Pan-Hel, Kappa Tau, Mortar Board, and Blue Key, which seek to foster student amity, to the definitely professional character of Theta Sigma Phi, Sigma Delta Chi, and Alpha Delta Sigma, each group has its own niche in the campus "hall of fame". Although meetings of such organizations are classed as extra-curricular activities, they have a very definite place in DePauw life where the importance of the "human equation" is appreciated.

It is significant that every aspect of college life is represented by these honoraries: the athletic aristocracy of "letter" men finds its intellectual counterpart in mental gymnasts whose scholarship is recognized by membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma, and the well known Phi Beta Kappa. Fraternity problems are discussed by the representative bodies, Pan-Hellenic council and Kappa Tau Kappa, while student-faculty relations are the interest of the senior honor societies, Blue Key and Mortar Board. Journalism is represented by Sigma Delta Chi and its feminine equivalent, Theta Sigma Phi, whose members champion the belief that "the pen is mightier than the sword". The future of advertising is the concern of a new group, Alpha Delta Sigma; the musical minded are organized into Mu Phi Epsilon and Phi Mu Alpha, while Duzer Du, Delta Sigma Rho, and Pi Epsilon Delta recognize promising students in the department of speech. Potential economists make up the personnel of Artus club, while promising students in the department of romance languages are organized into Phi Sigma Iota, and members of the local military unit with their coed sponsors compose Scabbard and Blade and Alpha Mu Pi.

Membership in such DePauw organizations looms larger in the collegiate horizon than any professional or social recognition of a later day. Perhaps, "coming events cast their shadows" in undergraduate circles, where small campus triumphs indicate future success in a broader life. Even though honoraries have no post-graduate significance, their contribution to a full college career justifies their presence on the DePauw campus.

For Your Need

It has been conceded without question there are few requirements of a musical equipment which in severity of demand approach that of school use. The instrument that withstands the rigors of educational usage must naturally become the standard by which others are judged.

That is the reason DePauw University is equipped with Starrs. We are proud to have Starr-Made Pianos here. We know these instruments will meet every demand made on them. Today over a thousand schools, colleges, universities and other educational institutions are equipped with none but Starr-Made Pianos.

From the small school model only 3 feet, 8½ inches in height to the magnificent Concert Grand, Starr-Made Pianos represent a maximum of value.

Constantly Searching

For centuries astronomers have looked into the skies searching for new worlds, constellations and stars. Aside from their interesting research work, they have learned much that is of practical scientific value.

Similarly, in the field of student publications, the Indianapolis Engraving Company searches constantly for new ideas, plans and methods that will assist year-book staffs to publish successfully books characteristic of their school and community. The results of these efforts are gratifying.

In war, as Napoleon remarked, it's heavy artillery that wins the victories. In merchandising, it's heavy buying power. The tremendous buying power of the J. C. Penney Stores finds expression in the ability of every store to give you substantial savings in low prices on every purchase you make! Buying in great quantities enables us to secure merchandise—in perfect condition and in the newest styles—at important savings. Let us prove to you—as we have to millions of others—that you may benefit by shopping here where quality goods, alert service and low prices prevail.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE GRADUATING CLASS

We extend our heartiest congratulations. According to carefully compiled statistics, the earnings of college graduates very greatly exceed those of persons without such a great advantage—so that your college education is due to pay you some handsome financial dividends in the days to come.

Looking forward to those same days, we hope you are carefully considering the opportunities open to you here in Greencastle. And in this connection, we should like to offer you the friendship of this bank—its experienced counsel and hearty cooperation in your future business and personal financial problems.

Why not drop in now and talk over your plans with us? We shall be glad to see you at any time.

THEATRES

We wish to take this means of thanking the Students of DePauw University for their patronage during the past season which has been greatly appreciated by this organization.

Our aim at all times, has been to bring to Greencastle only the highest type of entertainment and we hope that during the past year, that you have received our programs enthusiastically and found them most pleasing the majority of the times you have visited our theatres.

Those of you who are returning next year, we kindly ask that you report to the management any dissatisfaction on our part and we will be only too glad to adjust matters and co-operate in every way possible.

The silent hours steal on,

And flaky darkness breaks within the east.
